Masonite International Corporation Names Clare Doyle to Lead Components Business

10/21/2016

TAMPA, Fla.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Masonite International Corporation (NYSE:DOOR) today announced the appointment of Clare Doyle as Senior Vice President and Business Leader of Masonite's Components business, effective September 28, 2016.

Clare joins Masonite with over 25 years of experience, most recently as Vice President of Marketing for Elementis Specialties, a UK-based global specialty chemical company with $675 million in annual sales. Prior to joining Elementis Specialties, she spent 11 years with Rohm and Haas Company in various roles in Corporate Development, Electronic Materials and in Architectural and Functional Coatings. Her last assignment with Rohm and Haas was Marketing Director for Architectural Coatings, North America within the Coatings business unit. Clare earned her Bachelors of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from Tulane University and a Masters of Business Administration from Columbia University.

"Clare brings a wealth of international and industrial business experience that positions her well to lead the Masonite Components business," stated Fred Lynch, President and CEO. "We believe her history of driving growth through new market opportunities and application development will help further our efforts to deliver innovative products and services to our internal and external components customers."
