Chamberlain University Appoints Mary Beth Kingston to its Board of Trustees

2025-03-19

Mary Beth Kingston joins Chamberlain University's Board of Trustees, bringing her visionary leadership and innovative approach to nursing to the nation's largest nursing school.

CHICAGO--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Chamberlain University, an Adtalem Global Education (NYSE: ATGE) institution and largest nursing school in the country[1] , has appointed Mary Beth Kingston, PhD, RN, FAAN, to its board of trustees as chair, effective immediately.

A 2024 recipient of the prestigious Lifetime Achievement Award from the American Organization for Nursing Leadership (AONL), Kingston brings more than 40 years of experience in the healthcare industry to Chamberlain University. A visionary leader in nursing, Mary Beth Kingston brings her innovative leadership, steadfast commitment to nurse safety, and strong advocacy for health equity and education to this role.

"Kingston's exceptional leadership in nursing and unwavering dedication to nursing and health professions education makes her an invaluable addition to the Chamberlain University's Board of Trustees," said Karen Cox, PhD, RN, FACHE, FAAN, president, Chamberlain University. "Her firsthand experience as a leader in a major health system through the challenges of the pandemic and beyond provides unparalleled insights into the future of nursing and healthcare. As a trusted thought leader, she is shaping the industry's next chapter and advancing the profession at a critical time."

Before joining the Chamberlain Board of Trustees, Kingston served as Executive Vice President and Chief Nursing Officer for Advocate Health, overseeing the company's nursing strategy and operations. She previously served on the Milwaukee Urban League and American Hospital Association board of trustees and chaired the Hospitals Against Violence Advisory Group. Currently, she sits on Providence Saint Joseph's Health and Main Line Health boards. In addition to receiving the AONL Lifetime Achievement Award, Kingston served as the organization's president in 2019. She was also named one of Modern Healthcare's 50 Most Influential Clinical Executives in 2021, 2023 and 2024. She became a fellow of the American Academy of Nursing in 2020.

"I'm honored to join Chamberlain University's Board of Trustees and share my passion and dedication for the nursing community and healthcare industry," said Kingston. "Chamberlain's commitment to increasing access to nursing education and its unwavering support for its students is truly inspiring, and I'm excited for the opportunity to make an impactful contribution to this institution."

Kingston earned her bachelor's degree in nursing from West Chester University in Pennsylvania and her master's degree in nursing from the University of Pennsylvania. Kingston has a PhD in health policy from the University of the Sciences in Philadelphia.
