BrightInsight, a Flex Company, Receives 2018 Google Cloud Partner of the Year Award for Healthcare and Life Sciences
Built on Google Cloud Platform, the BrightInsight Platform supports and optimizes regulated drugs, devices and software through integrated data and actionable insights

SAN JOSE, Calif., April 9, 2019 – BrightInsight, a Flex company, today announced that it has received the 2018 Google Cloud Partner of the Year Award for Healthcare and Life Sciences. The prestigious award was presented at Google Cloud Next '19, taking place April 9 – 11 in San Francisco, CA.

BrightInsight was recognized for this year's award due to the company's strong traction since launching its BrightInsight Platform in March 2018, including selection as Novo Nordisk's global digital health partner to develop innovative solutions for diabetes patients.

Designed to support up to Class III medical device and combination product intended uses, BrightInsight is a unified Internet of Things (IoT) platform that enables biopharma and medtech organizations to develop and host digital health devices, apps and algorithms at scale while maintaining compliance with privacy, security and regulatory requirements across the globe. In partnership with Google Cloud, BrightInsight developed a new change control process to maintain regulatory compliance and ensure that changes to the cloud platform do not affect BrightInsight customers' intended uses. This medical-grade IoT platform will enable biopharma and medtech to bring intelligent solutions to market.

"We are honored to be recognized by Google Cloud for the transformative work we are doing with the BrightInsight Platform," said Kal Patel, MD, President, BrightInsight. "Our platform is built under a Quality Management System to securely manage highly regulated medical device data and personal health information. Through our partnership with Google Cloud, we can support our customer's regulated digital health solutions at scale."

"We're delighted to recognize BrightInsight as Google Cloud Partner of the Year Award for Healthcare and Life Sciences for their innovative work on behalf of Google Cloud customers over the past year," said Kevin Ichhpurani, Corporate Vice President, Global Partner Ecosystem at Google Cloud. "Our ecosystem of partners is driving tremendous innovation, and BrightInsight's solutions in healthcare and life sciences are a great example. We're proud to provide this award to BrightInsight and look forward to continue building together."

Committed to the highest quality standards, BrightInsight is ISO13485:2016 certified. From a security perspective, the BrightInsight Platform is HITRUST CSF® Certified to manage risk, improve security posture and meet compliance requirements. The platform is also ISO/IEC 27001:2013 certified. To support the utmost privacy standards, the BrightInsight Platform is HIPAA and GDPR compliant and certified under both the EU-U.S. and Swiss-U.S. Privacy Shield frameworks.
