In making its recommendations, the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee shall:

- review candidates’ qualifications for membership on the Board or a committee of the Board (including making a specific determination as to the independence of the candidate) based on the criteria approved by the Board (and considering the enhanced independence, financial literacy and financial expertise standards that may be required under law or New York Stock Exchange rules for audit committee, compensation or other committee membership purposes);

The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee considers not only an individual’s qualities, performance, and professional responsibilities, but also the then composition of the Board and the needs of the Board at that time. The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee also considers the impact of any change in the principal occupation, or simultaneous service on other company boards, of existing directors. The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee reports to the full Board its conclusions and recommendations for nominations to the Board.

Board Membership Criteria

The Board shall consider recommendations for nominees from the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee. In considering candidates, the Board may consider one or all of the following:

In the case of an incumbent director whose term of office is set to expire, the Board shall review such director's overall service to the Company during their term, including the percentage of meetings attended, level of participation, quality of performance, and any other relationships and transactions that might impair such director's independence.

The Board and the Company wish to maintain a Board composed of members who can productively contribute to the success of the Company. From time to time, the Board may change the criteria for Board membership to maximize the opportunity to achieve this success. The Board shall make an affirmative determination at least annually as to the independence of each director. contribute to effective oversight and decision-making by the Board, as determined by the Board in its sole discretion.
