ENVIRONMENTAL POLICY

At Centerra, responsible mining principles are at the core of our planning, from exploration, through operations to closure. Mount Milligan is committed to the protection of the environment for present and future generations and the health and safety of our employees and those associated with our operations.

Mount Milligan employees are responsible for incorporating actions necessary to fulfill this commitment into their business and operational planning and work.

To meet these responsibilities, Mount Milligan will provide each of its employees and departments with the necessary resources to:

- Maintain our commitment to prevent adverse environmental impacts and prevent pollution by designing, constructing, operating and reclaiming our facilities to comply with or exceed applicable laws, regulations, obligations, and industry practices.
- Maintain the Environmental Management System which strives to identify, assess, and mitigate or eliminate environmental risks.
- Communicate openly with the public and government regarding our plans, programs and performance.
- Work cooperatively with government agencies, local communities, suppliers and trade associations to develop effective and efficient measures to improve protection of the environment, based on sound science.
- Acquire knowledge and technologies to improve the safe and efficient implementation of our processes, materials and emergency response systems. In all instances, apply best practical management practices to advance environmental protection, minimize environmental risk and ensure the health and safety of our employees.
- Achieve continuous improvement through the development of environmental performance evaluation procedures and associated indicators, including monitoring, audit programs and management reviews to ensure compliance with regulatory and Company requirements.
- Ensure this policy is made available to our employees and publicly made available on our company and project-specific websites.
