A letter from our CEO

Principal is committed to expanding the population of those living in financial security through long-term, responsible actions like advocating for financial inclusion and creating new opportunities for generations to come.

Customers want to do business with companies whose values align with their own. Our customers tell us these actions matter to them. They also matter to us. In fact, 2023 will mark my 40th anniversary with the company, and I've personally never known a time when everyone at Principal has been so focused on investing in what matters.

We aspire to create and maintain a work environment based on integrity, respect, community, and trust—so employees can contribute to their full potential and do their best work for our customers.

I'm very proud of our nearly 20,000 employees worldwide who understand we have a unique opportunity to improve the lives of others through the work we do each day.”

Dan Houston

Chairman, President, and CEO of Principal

Our U.S. Diversity Index measures how well we're living this out, and the 2023 Index exceeded our goal by nearly five percentage points. Additionally, our culture is regularly recognized by reputable third parties. Key workplace recognitions in 2023 highlight Principal as an ethical, responsible, and just company; a great place to work in both money management and information technology; a stand-out employer for women—and executive women in particular; and a company known for inclusion, diversity, and innovation.

Research and advocacy are two additional areas where we live out our values. In 2023, Principal sponsored the second annual Global Financial Inclusion Index,¹ providing greater insight into the levers that enable or inhibit financial inclusion in markets around the world. Company leaders continue to use data from the report to drive meaningful conversations and to enrich our understanding of the customers and stakeholders we serve.

Recognizing the pressing climate concerns and investors' interests in supporting climate action, we were honored to participate in COP28, the 28th annual United Nations climate meeting. We shared our views on sustainable investing, especially related to food and biodiversity in the face of a warming world.

That same week we released research on how global investors can help advance food security.

In communities around the world, Principal, together with Principal® Foundation, are leading efforts to foster financial security, diversity, equity, and inclusion—through financial education, volunteerism, grant-making, sponsorship, and more. Principal® Foundation committed $18 million to our communities in 2023, which is just one piece of the story. The Principal Foundation and Community Relations teams have diligently grown their initiatives globally, ensuring our programs and resources are aligned with our highest priorities.

Additional highlights from 2023:

- In 2021, with support from Principal Foundation, we committed to double the number of diverse small and midsize businesses (SMBs) we support by 2025. We are proud to have achieved that goal in 2023, and we're setting a new goal for 2025.
- From an environmental perspective, we are confident we'll reach our long-term goal of achieving a 65% reduction in our global scope 1 and scope 2 market-based greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions by 2034. Our glide path goal is an average 4.3% reduction per year. We achieved this goal again in 2023, with meaningful decreases in our emissions both in the U.S. and globally. On average, since 2019, we've reduced GHG emissions by 11.5% each year.
- And, through our commitment to sustainable investing, in 2023 we implemented sustainability guidelines for the Principal Life Insurance Company® general account, covering two-thirds of the assets under management in our general account.

I invite you to learn more about these initiatives (and many more) as you read this report, including the progress we're making toward our long-term commitments as shown on page 12. I'm very proud of our nearly 20,000 employees worldwide who understand we have a unique opportunity to improve the lives of others through the work we do each day. Their belief that financial security can and should be more universally accessible is inspiring, as is their dedication to supporting our customers and our communities.

Thank you for your interest in Principal and your desire to learn more about our goals and our progress. We know we can do more, and I look forward to seeing how we continue to live up to customers' expectations and move the needle even further in 2024.

Our purpose

We know people live their most fulfilling lives when they feel secure. And for more than 140 years, everything we do has been built around this understanding.

Our purpose is to help more people and businesses gain access to financial security and to create a more equitable financial system. We strive to meet people where they are on their financial journey, understanding their progress, possibilities, and hurdles—then offering choices for a clear path forward.

What is financial security?

We define financial security as a person's ability to confidently meet current and future financial obligations, access emergency savings and protection as needed, and progress toward long-term financial goals.

To feel financially secure, people must first feel included in the financial conversation. Financial inclusion is an enabler for seven of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs⁸) and a key part of our sustainability strategy.

Financial inclusion depends on equitable products that are convenient and accessible to more people, including those in underserved populations. As a member of the United Nations Global Compact, we participate in the CFO Coalition, working with other industry leaders to act in tangible ways and align corporate investments with the SDGs.

To expand access to financial security:

- We create innovative products and services to meet the diverse needs of customers across 80+ markets.⁹
- We use our expertise in retirement, asset management, and insurance to provide education and insights to our 62 million customers.⁹
- We incorporate sustainable investing principles in our investment processes across portfolios as a signatory of the Principles for Responsible Investment (PRI).¹⁰
- We develop research to identify barriers to financial security and work toward solutions.
- We engage governments to advocate for public policy solutions that improve access to financial services.

These actions are contingent on markets with supportive conditions.

⁸ <http://www.un.org/sustainabledevelopment/sustainable-development-goals>.

⁹ As of December 31, 2023.

¹⁰ Principal Asset Management has been a signatory of PRI since 2010.

Our approach to sustainability

The world around us	10
Our sustainability strategy and commitments	11
2023 scorecard	13

The world around us

Our sustainability strategy is shaped by macro and sustainability trends. By identifying these trends and understanding how they affect us and our customers, we can be better equipped to monitor and manage the risks and opportunities they present, now and in the future.

New ways of working

The working landscape has undergone a transformation in recent years, propelled by advances in technology and a widespread adoption of flexible work arrangements. Traditional office models have given way to a more adaptable approach that prioritizes flexibility and embraces remote options. Advancements in technology that support virtual collaboration and communication allow teams to connect across geographic boundaries and tailor their work environments to suit their lives.

This new landscape demonstrates the transformative power of technology and the importance of flexibility as a cornerstone for success in the contemporary workplace.

Principal continues to implement technology solutions to support a dynamic and reformed work environment and enable a range of flexible work options to suit the needs of our diverse workforce.

Changing sentiments of financial inclusion

Around the world, governments, institutions, and employers are recognizing the importance of financial inclusion as a driver of economic growth and stability. However, sentiments and confidence related to financial security and inclusion have been tested due to volatile financial market conditions and other geopolitical factors. Our research shows that in some of the largest and most developed economies, financial inclusion is stagnating or even deteriorating due to insufficient investment in modernizing their financial services infrastructure.¹³ In contrast, financial inclusion appears to be growing the fastest in developing markets that are investing in and building technology that expands access to digital banking products and therefore fosters greater economic participation among previously underserved populations. These trends play a significant role in ensuring that economies are able to support their populations, even when their resilience is tested.

That is why Principal funds research on global financial inclusion, using learnings to gain a clearer understanding of the barriers to, and enablers of, financial security.

Read more about how we are working to increase financial inclusion

Climate-related risks and opportunities

The threat of climate-related risks to communities, economies, and habitats has intensified, resulting in calls for urgent action and global collaboration to implement strategies to mitigate the negative effects and prepare for a more resilient future. The increase in extreme weather and disruptions to ecosystems have increased the susceptibility for already vulnerable regions and populations. Climate-related risks have also significantly impacted certain industry sectors such as agriculture, insurance, and infrastructure.

Conversely, the unprecedented change in our environment has provided new opportunities and galvanized innovation to meet the new demands of a more resourceful and sustainable future.

Principal incorporates climate-related risks into our overall risk management processes, allowing us to be better prepared to respond to actual or potential climate-related financial risks.

We are also working to minimize our overall impact on the planet and identify opportunities to support the transition to a low-carbon economy.

Evolving regulatory sustainability landscape

New and increased regulations around the world have given increased attention to environmental, social, and governance (ESG) programs and defined new regulatory reporting requirements to which subjected companies must comply.

Climate-related disclosures adopted by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), the European Union's Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive (CSRD), and local and state governments require companies to integrate legal, compliance, and finance roles with internal sustainability departments to coordinate timely responses and reporting. A larger emphasis has also been placed on transparency by means of accurate, reliable, and assured data.

As requirements change around the globe, customer and client expectations also evolve, pushing companies to respond to their diverse demands and remain agile in a rapidly changing reporting landscape.

Principal continues to work cross-functionally to prepare systems, processes, and controls that allow for increased transparency and reporting mechanisms to meet these new standards and regulations.

Our global approach to ESG integration

Our approach

The consideration of ESG factors is integrated into our sustainable investing approach across all actively managed asset classes. The integration approach is determined by the specific investment process of the investment team within the underlying asset class.

Our Sustainable Investing Oversight Committee has worked with each investment team to categorize alignment with our internal sustainable investing continuum. The sustainable investing continuum outlines our various approaches to sustainable investing, which are classified as ESG Integration Foundational, ESG Integration Enhanced Features, Thematic, or Impact. We also have the ability to screen investments for sustainability-related characteristics by client request. ESG integration is our most widely used approach to implementing our sustainable investing strategy.

Investment team highlight: Principal Real Estate

While we consider many ESG factors in our integration analysis, climate risk is one of the material factors used in the evaluation of real estate assets. Principal Real Estate conducts climate risks scenario analyses for its discretionary open-end funds on a regular basis.

Thirteen Principal Real Estate investment strategies have completed physical and transitional climate risk analysis.²⁰ The investment teams use this information in their annual investment strategy to identify high-risk assets for capital improvements or operational changes and to better understand their overall environmental risk and impact.

Principal Real Estate: Climate targets

We seek to invest in and lend on real estate that delivers positive financial, environmental, and social outcomes for all stakeholders while promoting health and well-being for tenants and residents, minimizing environmental impacts, and enhancing the communities where we invest.

In support of global efforts to limit warming to 1.5°C, we have set an emissions target for select private equity investment vehicles.

We aim to reduce our GHG emissions by 40% by 2035 and achieve net zero by 2050 for select discretionary private equity investment vehicles from a 2019 baseline.

To date, we have achieved a 5.5% reduction in GHG emissions.²¹

Principal Real Estate defines net zero as the annual carbon emissions generated from a building's use of fossil fuel, GHG-emitting energy being reduced to zero based on the adoption of energy efficiency, on- and off-site renewable energy sources, and carbon removal offsets, if needed.

Our strategy for achieving net zero starts by reducing building energy use through energy efficiency projects, low or no cost operational improvements, investment in capital expenditures, tenant engagement, and building electrification.

Once we have reduced energy use, we will focus on renewable energy generated on site or off site and potential renewable energy credits. For any GHG emissions remaining after reduce and renew projects, we will look at carbon removal offset options with a focus on authentic long-term carbon removal.

Our global sustainable investment products

We are seeing institutional investors around the world become more interested in sustainable investment products—and we're responding.

Our approach

As a global asset manager, we have focused on converting and launching new funds that comply with greater expectations of sustainability standards from regulators and clients alike.

Our actions and performance in 2023

In 2023, we launched two new products and converted two existing products to Article 8 status under the EU's Sustainable Finance Disclosure Regulation (SFDR).

As of December 31, 2023, Article 8/9 assets under management totaled $7.18 billion.²² In 2024, we're planning to launch or convert additional funds as Article 8 or 9 under the SFDR classification framework.

Additionally, we launched four new products, three we consider to have enhanced ESG integration features and one thematic strategy.

We've launched products in 2023 that help us meet our client's preferences.

- In partnership with China Construction Bank (CCB), we've launched the CCB Principal China New Energy Innovation Fund. This fund offers offshore investors access to A-share listed companies related to the new energy industries, including renewable power, electrical equipment, energy storage, and electric vehicles. The fund will utilize locally based thematic equity investing insights in mainland China, which focuses on both top-down factors, such as industry policy and supply-and-demand trends, and bottom-up fundamentals. A proprietary ESG approach with a locally developed stock scorecard is integrated throughout the investment process to ensure stocks meet sustainability standards.
- The Principal Sustainable Asia Equity Income Fund in Hong Kong invests more than 70% of the fund's net asset value in top performing ESG rated companies within Asia Pacific (ex-Japan). In addition to investing in best in class ESG performers, the fund also has an exclusionary policy (tobacco, casinos and gaming, and controversial weapons and will also exclude companies deemed to have governance concerns).

- The Thai ESG Fund aims to promote long-term savings and to increase local investments into Thai businesses with ESG characteristics. In November 2023, the Thai Ministry of Finance approved a tax saving scheme that provides a 30% tax incentive for individuals utilizing ESG labeled products. This type of innovative product encourages sustainable investing and will promote sustainable development in Thailand, which is needed for the country to achieve Sustainable Development Goals in 2030.

As of 2023, we offer four thematic products and one impact strategy.

What's next

We continue to work with our clients to determine the right types of sustainable investment strategies that meet their needs. We are presently seeing interest in sustainable food, biodiversity, climate transition, responsible equity, and real estate decarbonization.

Active ownership and engagement

Stewardship and engagement activities are essential to our role as active investors. We believe by encouraging corporations to improve long-term stewardship of human, natural, and financial resources, we can play an active role in helping deliver better outcomes for our stakeholders.

Our approach

For us, active ownership and engagement means striving for shared value and employing stakeholder power to encourage responsible corporate behavior and drive better investment returns. This includes direct corporate engagement, such as communicating with senior management and/or boards, voting on shareholder proposals, and maintaining sustainable proxy voting guidelines.

Stewardship and engagement

Stewardship activities are a part of each investment team's specialized philosophy and process. Each team has freedom to define the scope of its engagement with companies and participate in industry and sector collaborations.

Our formalized Principal Asset Management Stewardship and Engagement Policy Statement \(PDF\) further unifies the work across our various investment teams. The policy provides an additional framework to guide company engagement, is aligned with the expectations of PRI, and is an important structure for executing our stewardship responsibilities.

We aim to achieve the following through our stewardship and engagement strategy:

- Engage and collaborate with the companies we invest in, using our shareholder advantage to encourage responsible sustainability practices by the company when aligned with our investment thesis of the company.
- Encourage greater transparency by the companies on their ESG practices.
- Encourage companies to manage risks related to ESG factors and react swiftly to help achieve a competitive advantage relative to peers regarding remuneration, boards/directors, audit issues, regulations, litigations, and other market factors that could impact a company.
- Encourage companies to disclose relevant ESG metrics through public reporting and how they may fit into the company's overall business activities.

Proxy voting

As part of our fiduciary duty to act on behalf of our clients, we are responsible for voting on proxies relating to the portfolio securities of the corporations where we have taken equity positions.

The analysis of corporate governance issues, proxy voting, and regular and recurring engagement with the assets in which we invest are important components of portfolio management for active investments.

Principal Asset Management has a committee responsible for developing and monitoring our Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures \(PDF\) and guidelines across all vote themes, as well as providing oversight of all matters related to proxy voting.

This includes the services of our third-party proxy research and administration provider, Institutional Shareholder Services (ISS).

We continue to use our Principal Base Guidelines and Principal Sustainable Guidelines where appropriate and work with our Administrator, ISS, to gather the information necessary to execute the policy, collaborate with peers, and administer the voting process.

In some cases, we utilize sustainability or other thematic guidelines as well as our Proxy Voting Committee's ability to customize guidelines to best meet our clients' needs, as deemed appropriate.

The Proxy Voting Committee receives and reviews a quarterly report summarizing all proxy votes for securities for which Principal Asset Management exercises voting.

Read more about our approach to exercising voting rights in our Proxy Voting Policy \(PDF\)

Our actions and performance in 2023

During 2023, of 4,839 votable meetings, Principal Asset Management voted in 4,806, including 10 proxy contests. The votes cast on ballots during the reporting period were aligned with management recommendation in 90.9% of cases and 99.2% aligned with our custom Guidelines.

Across categories, votes cast on management proposals show the closest alignment to the ISS Benchmark Policy guidelines, which include climate change and greenhouse gas emissions, board diversity, sustainability reporting, and ESG compensation-related proposals.

With an increased demand for insights into stewardship and engagement practices, in 2023 we transitioned from a specific U.K. Stewardship Report to a Global Stewardship Report \(PDF\). This approach allows us to describe in more detail our stewardship efforts across our multiple investment teams, instead of limiting the information to one geography or signatory, ultimately providing a more streamlined way to provide the relevant information requested by potential and existing clients.

We also released a vote disclosure site. This interactive portal allows clients, investee companies, and other stakeholders timely access to important ballot results.

What's next

In 2024, we will strive to improve our regular interactions with investee companies through an enhanced engagement framework and the proposed creation of an Engagement Committee. We are also rolling out additional proxy voting disclosures.

Our approach to sustainable asset ownership

As an asset owner through the general account of Principal Life Insurance Company, sustainability considerations form an important cornerstone of our investments.

Our approach

We have incorporated sustainability factors into our investment process without a selection or rejection bias stemming purely from sustainability factors. Considerations of sustainability factors also feed into the analytical frameworks used by our investment teams.

Our fixed income analysts score investments on ESG metrics while our real estate analysts include climate change and emission considerations in their analysis when evaluating deals. Not only do we analyze these scores before underwriting new investments, we also target continuous improvement in our portfolio's sustainability metrics, measured by both internal and external scores, as applicable. With better data availability and quality, we are convinced that these can improve over time.

Our portfolio management teams engage with the companies we invest in to encourage responsible ESG practices aligned with our investment thesis for the company. We also encourage companies to disclose relevant and material ESG metrics through public reporting and describe how these considerations inform the company's overall business activities. This includes consideration and management of ESG risks. These types of engagement, we believe, help encourage greater transparency around ESG practices and improve the overall sustainability metrics of our portfolio.

Our actions and performance in 2023

During 2023, we established specific sustainability guidelines applicable to our holdings in corporate bonds, commercial mortgage loans, and private real estate equity.

These guidelines lay out targets on a variety of metrics, including internal scoring and scores from external sources where applicable, which reaffirms our commitment to sustainable investing as an important component of optimizing returns relative to risks. These guidelines cover approximately 66% of our portfolio, which indicates substantial progress in formalizing our approach to sustainable investing.

We are happy to report that we met the goals laid out in our fixed income sustainability guidelines in its first full year of operation.

Additionally, 66% of assets under management of the general account had ESG integration at the end of 2023.

We invested about $215 million in assets likely to meet the criteria for inclusion in the sustainable bond issuance portfolio of collateral, based on our Sustainable Financing Framework. Our team to date has identified around $1.14 billion of investments that are likely to meet the criteria.

Portfolio emissions

Assessing our portfolio emissions—the scope 3 emissions of our assets under management—helps our investment teams and other stakeholders understand the climate risk and exposure of the funds.

Our approach

We believe understanding the emissions exposure within our portfolios, investing in companies that outperform their peers on emissions reduction, and engaging to understand the drivers of climate goals, such as net zero commitments, help add a layer of risk reduction and potential alpha generation to our funds.

Our actions and performance in 2023

In 2023, we measured and tracked the emissions of underlying holdings and analyzed the impact at a portfolio level for the assets on our Dublin platform. There are still significant gaps in emissions reporting industry wide.

However, Article 8/9 UCITS products that consider principal adverse impacts are required to report GHG emissions annually, acting as an exemplary case study for emissions disclosure and how this could impact portfolio composition over time.

The latest regulation for SFDR went into place on January 1, 2023. The 2023 GHG emissions of our Article 8/9 UCITS equity products totaled 36 million MTCO₂e and over $782 million assets under management—which covers 98.9% of equity funds that are Article 8/9 on Dublin SFDR platform. In 2023, we added an additional equity fund to this calculation which represented 2% of reported emissions. The scope of coverage should increase as companies are required to publicly disclose emissions data via the Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive (CSRD). This will enable our investment teams to better engage with underlying companies on their emissions performance and make the appropriate investment decisions based on this material input.

Of the 15 categories included in scope 3 emissions, portfolio emissions are just one of these categories. We annually report all 15 categories in our CDP Climate Change Questionnaire.

Prioritizing consumer and product impact

Enabling product equity and access

We understand the different obstacles individuals and businesses face when planning, protecting, and saving for the future. We are uniquely positioned to remove these barriers to make financial and insurance products, services, and solutions more accessible through relevant and inclusive experiences and choices.

Our approach

We understand that financial planning encompasses many factors like age, gender, marital status, family size, cultural values, savings behavior, tenure, income, career path, and retirement dreams. We focus on understanding these variables so we can provide individuals and businesses with personal and relevant messages to enable inclusive experiences. We also work to remove barriers to make it easier to understand and engage with the products and services we offer.

We develop educational programs and unique content designed to reach and facilitate connections between women, people of color, members of the LGBTQ+ community, and other underserved populations. Additionally, we apply an inclusion lens to our marketing materials, images, and content to make sure they represent all our customers and the diverse population we serve.

Disabilities or impairment support

We have a dedicated team to help ensure we meet Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.1—Level AA compliance across all mediums and platforms through which our audiences interact with us.

We have also built testing into our development process throughout our design system and engineers to ensure new code is accessible.

Our websites support:

- compatibility with the screen reader technology (includes our mobile app),
- contrast ratios that comply with WCAG to assist users with color blindness,
- alternative text descriptions for images and other visual elements on the page,
- proper tab order to ensure content is read in the correct order, and
- zoom elements to 200% without the page breaking.

Hard-of-hearing or deaf individuals can reach a retirement specialist in our Participant Contact Center using their state's relay system and teletype (TTY). This connects the person with a relay customer assistant, who voices messages to Principal and types messages to the hard-of-hearing individual. Our representatives can also make outbound calls to hard-of-hearing participants using relay services.

Gender-neutral language

To help foster gender inclusivity, we are making changes to our existing systems and processes. With select U.S. businesses, we are:

- Implementing gender-neutral language by removing gender-specific salutations (Mr., Mrs., Miss, Ms.) from correspondence, using full names instead.
- Adding non-binary as a selection in gender fields on forms and screen fields and/or removing the gender field.
- Updating policy and contract language to be gender neutral, which applies to all interactions (customer, distributor, employee, vendor).
- Continuing underwriting and rate approaches that do not discriminate.

Designing equitable and inclusive products

Another way we work to enable access to products and services is by providing affordable and customizable products to customers around the world.

- The Principal® EASE pooled employer plan (PEP) offered in the U.S. combines integrated retirement plan administration, customer service, and investment fiduciary capabilities enabling employers to offer an efficient, affordable, and professionally-managed retirement solution. Since inception in 2021, a majority of adopting employers are offering retirement benefits for the first time.
- Simply Retirement by Principal®, our digital 401(k) product, makes retirement plans more accessible to businesses with less than 100 employees. It’s a straightforward cost that small businesses can plan for each month.
- Principal has a Shariah-compliant money market fund²³ available on Malaysia’s leading eWallet, Touch ‘n Go. Customers with as little as RM10 (US$2) can start their investing journey. More than 3.4 million Malaysians invest in the fund, and the number continues to grow steadily.
- Principal has a suite of target date funds²³ available in Malaysia. This retirement solution offers simple, hassle-free retirement planning to customers in that country.

Our actions and performance in 2023

We’ve launched new products in 2023 that further expand access.

- We launched our first registered linked index annuity (RILA) in May to meet the growing demand for annuity solutions to help customers manage market ups and downs through investment options that offer choice and personalization, which can include climate focused options.
- In April we launched the Principal® Intelligent QDIA (IQDIA), a more personalized default investment alternative that delivers a hybrid approach that evolves with participants throughout their career and life stages. It starts by defaulting younger participants into an option to help meet their early savings needs. Then, at a later age set by the plan, automatically transitions to a managed account service that can be tailored by participants to help meet their needs as they approach retirement. IQDIA can help remove the guesswork and can increase participants’ confidence in their financial future.

- In our Workplace Benefits vision insurance offering, we’ve extended our in-network provider options to include local retail locations in rural areas to improve access.
- We launched our Hospital Indemnity product in early 2023. The product helps consumers focus on medical recovery rather than the financial burden of hospitalization. Plan designs are flexible and allow employers to offer plan design(s) to fits their employees’ needs.
- We launched an updated version of our disability income product. The redesigned product simplifies the offering for consumers and provides more flexible future insurability options to help maintain coverage as earnings and cost of living increase over time.

Accelerating the growth of SMBs

This year we launched Elevate by Principal, an ecosystem created to accelerate the growth of small and midsized businesses (SMBs). Principal endeavored to curate a powerful network, resource, and team of people that support the SMB market with their most common needs. The platform provides data-driven insights and discounts on products and services businesses use every day to help advance and grow these businesses.

Specifically, the platform helps SMBs unlock working capital through a group purchasing organization (GPO), which aggregates the purchasing power of thousands of businesses to extend the purchasing scale of much larger Fortune 250 companies. Not only does this provide greater access for these SMBs to purchase the resources they need, it allows them to use the savings provided from the GPO to deploy as capital toward maximizing growth. Elevate by Principal also provides one-on-one support and ideas on how to best use this capital, often working with one of our trusted strategic partners focused on sales, marketing, HR support, and more. This free platform unlocks time and resources empowering business owners to grow their business with confidence.

To date, we've helped more than 500 businesses through Elevate by Principal.

What's next

In 2024, we will continue to provide webinars that support the education of our customers and communities. We expect to provide webinars on topics such as banking basics, savings for college, market volatility, and women and wealth, to name a few. We will also create relevant and timely webinars for our SMB audience based on our insights.

Additionally, we will focus on evolving Elevate as a way to support SMBs.

Putting our customers first

Complaints give us valuable information to help improve our service and identify any problems that require our attention.

Our approach

Customer complaints and satisfaction

Each business area has a designated individual(s) responsible for managing complaint-related procedures and ensuring complaints are recorded, resolved, and reported appropriately and in a timely and consistent manner.

We have a formal internal process in place to monitor complaints from Benefits and Protection customers. We also reference the NAIC Complaint Index \(PDF\) for Principal Life Insurance Company. The National Complaint Index Report reflects data reported from the state insurance department to the NAIC. This report currently includes data from 2021, 2020, and 2019. We had 34 closed, confirmed complaints in 2022. We expect the NAIC to make 2023 data available in 2024.

Principal has an established, comprehensive voice of customer program that enables collection of customer satisfaction with Principal at the overall relationship level and after specific interactions, such as with customer support areas or after completing tasks or visits on our website or app.

We review all feedback and customer issues that require prompt follow-up are escalated and triaged to the appropriate area for customer outreach within 48 hours. Beyond resolving immediate customer issues, we also analyze customer feedback to identify trends that point to more systemic pain points in our customers' experiences, and those trends guide experience enhancements.

As an organization, Principal has established customer health goals, including customer satisfaction levels, which are tracked monthly and utilized to monitor the quality of the experiences we deliver. Customer support teams also have customer-centric goals around responsiveness, issue resolution, etc., which keep them focused on delivering experiences that put the customers' needs and goals front and center.

Fair marketing and advertising

Principal Benefits and Protection and Retirement and Income Solutions business units follow each product's specific compliance manual, enterprise policies, and internal advertising review procedures.

Collectively, these systems of control adhere to applicable regulations that govern communication with the public, ensuring advertising does not include any false, misleading, or exaggerated statements. Principal, its affiliates, and individuals included in its distribution channel adhere to rules for communication content standards, review and approval, dissemination, disclosure, and recordkeeping. The appropriate compliance area reviews and approves advertising materials. The mediums of public communication could include communication with retail investors (including social media), institutional communication, public appearances, and correspondence.

Principal and its affiliates, including Principal Asset Management, comply with applicable rules and regulations.

As of December 31, 2023, Principal and its affiliates, to the best of our knowledge, are not aware of any material regulatory compliance issues concerning the review and approval of marketing material.

Responsible product pricing

Principal Asset Management does not maintain a product and pricing policy, as we do not price products. Rather, we price securities and the firm has a Valuation Policy that is used to value securities held in client portfolios of Principal Asset Management and its affiliates. The valuation team sources the pricing of securities from either a primary or secondary source (e.g., ICE, Bloomberg, etc.). There is also a formal Valuation Oversight Committee that is responsible for reviews and approvals, and implements recommendations for certain securities. This committee is also responsible for the review of the overall design and the ongoing oversight of the valuation process, including validity of valuation techniques.

Advocating for financial inclusion

Inclusive financial access

We believe financial education and opportunity can lift up people of all backgrounds, all around the world. We're working to reach them with information and resources that resonate with additional support from Principal® Foundation.

Our approach

It's important to us to meet people where they are on their financial journey and develop pathways to economic mobility and financial empowerment. To do this, we need to better understand the barriers of reaching financial security across the globe—and why certain groups are more affected than others. This helps inform the role we can play to broaden access to financial security.

One of our core strategies is to better serve diverse businesses, which historically have had barriers to access financial products and services. In 2021, together with Principal Foundation,²⁴ we committed to double the number of diverse small and mid-sized businesses (SMBs) we support through product access, capital access programs,²⁵ community development, and financial education by 2025.

²⁴ Principal Community Relations supports the communities where affiliates of the Principal Financial Group®, Des Moines, IA 50392 operates. Insurance products and plan administrative services provided through Principal Life Insurance Company®, a member of the Principal Financial Group, Des Moines, IA 50392. Principal Financial Group Foundation, Inc. ('Principal® Foundation') is a duly recognized 501(c)(3) entity focused on providing philanthropic support to programs that build financial security in the communities where Principal Financial Group, Inc. ('Principal') operates. While Principal Foundation receives funding from Principal, Principal Foundation is a distinct, independent, charitable entity. Principal Foundation does not practice any form of investment advisory services and is not authorized to do so.

²⁵ Capital access programs refer to investments in and grant-making to third-party organizations that provide access to capital. Grants are made from Principal® Foundation.

We're working toward this goal by:

- Making insurance and savings products more accessible to diverse business owners.
- Advocating for more equitable access to capital for diverse businesses and entrepreneurs.
- Providing insights, education, and support for diverse SMBs to tackle common obstacles and take action on issues that are important to them.
- Providing financial education that empowers diverse SMBs to make informed financial decisions, manage risks, and position their businesses for long-term success and sustainability.

Our actions and performance in 2023

Starting from a 2020 baseline, we aimed to support 14,614 diverse entrepreneurs and SMBs by 2025, with an annual target of 2,923. In 2023, we ended the year supporting 4,740 diverse entrepreneurs and SMBs, exceeding our annual target and achieving our five-year goal in our third year with a total of 14,745 diverse entrepreneurs and businesses supported.

We are excited to have reached this milestone before our goal date, but remain steadfast in our commitment to advancing our support for this business community. Therefore, we have set a new goal to triple the number of diverse SMBs we support by 2025, an increase of 30,000 diverse SMBs from our 2020 baseline.

Between 2022 and 2023 we saw approximately a 3% increase in SMBs owned by women and a 6% increase for SMBs owned by people of color.

Capital access programs

In collaboration with First Women's Bank (FWB), we're advocating to increase financial security for more people, particularly women, who continue to be underserved. FWB is the only women-founded, women-owned and women-led commercial bank in the U.S. with a strategic focus on the women's economy. As a Mission Partner, we've demonstrated our commitment to close the gender gaps that persist in pay, leadership, benefits, and access to capital. Our leadership teams have worked with First Women's Bank to pursue sustainable public-private approaches to paid family medical leave through involvement in industry trade organizations.

Community development

In 2023, we continued to strengthen our membership of the Small Business Digital Alliance (SBDA) by hosting an in-person event in Denver, with financial professionals and SMBs. The all-female panel explored the role digital tools and resources play in increasing financial wellness for employers and employees. Topics covered included what financial wellness means to small business owners, how digital tools can create efficiencies in business, and how digital tools and resources can help recruit and retain employees in a tight labor market. We also participated in two webinars hosted by the SBDA targeting the SMB market. One webinar focused on educating SMBs on how they can benchmark their benefits offerings, the real cost of employee benefits, and how they use benefits to improve company culture. The second webinar focused on how small businesses can prepare and safeguard their businesses against cybersecurity threats.

²⁶ Represents small and mid-sized businesses in the U.S. owned by women or people of color. Not captured here is approximately 0.1% of small and mid-sized businesses that are owned by people of color who are also women.

Financial education

Principal Foundation furthers its financial education by providing funding to nonprofit organizations that support SMBs. An illustration of this support is our funding of 1863 Ventures' 3Rs (Recovery, Rebuild, Resiliency) business development program. This national non-profit is dedicated to the business development of New Majority Entrepreneurs—individuals who have historically been marginalized. The 3Rs program offers financial education, business coaching, technical assistance, and access to capital.

In 2023, they supported almost 1000 diverse owned businesses and entrepreneurs.

Additionally, this year Principal provided support to SCORE, a nonprofit organization that aims to foster vibrant small business success through education and mentorship based on their business lifestage, particularly women and people of color. Principal helped with the amplification of their web resources for women entrepreneurs, which have been viewed by almost 6 million visitors.

Our Principal Investment Opportunities video series in Thailand provides investment outlooks, market updates, fund recommendations, and other key insights.

In 2023, Our Dejando Huella program in Chile donated a total of 717 hours in various activities related to inclusion and skills development for students in vulnerable schools, such as job preparation talks, job interview preparation, vocational mentorship, and digital literacy.

In Brazil, we have set a goal to impact 188,000 people through financial education programs by 2026. In 2023, we reached 144,542 people.

FuturEd, our free virtual financial education platform in Brazil, offers a course with three modules (financial planning, private pension, and investments), 19 lessons and more than two and half hours of content. Since it was created, FuturEd has been viewed 13,343 times.

In 2023, we launched the second season of Foca nos Sonhos (Focus on Dreams), our videocast series that talks to young people in Brazil about financial education in an uncomplicated and humorous way. All episodes are led by a digital influencer and have the participation of professionals who address stories, learnings, tips, and reflections on financial organization and planning for the future. The weekly videos can be viewed on Brasilprev's YouTube or Instagram. The first season, released in 2022, reached more than 30 million people on YouTube, Instagram, and Facebook. In 2023, that number reached 53 million people.

Global Financial Inclusion Index

Clear and consistent measures of progress matter in financial inclusion. This means using data-driven insights to understand the barriers to financial security, and setting goals and establishing accountability to address gaps.

This year we continued our partnership with the Centre for Economics and Business Research (Cebr) to release the Global Financial Inclusion Index (Index). The Index ranks 42 markets on three clearly defined pillars of financial inclusion: government support, financial system support, and employer support. Now in its second year, the report provides a comprehensive and comparative evaluation of financial inclusion on a global scale.

This year's results demonstrated that financial inclusion has improved globally. However, the world's largest economies are generally stagnating or deteriorating in terms of financial inclusion, while financial inclusion is advancing most rapidly in markets developing technology-enabled financial systems.

Read more: Global Financial Inclusion Index: 2023 report \(PDF\)

What's next

We will continue our annual research with the Index which will help enable Principal and others in the industry to take more informed approaches to promoting financial inclusion and gain a clearer understanding of the barriers to financial security. The findings will help inform future products, services, investments, and philanthropic efforts to broaden financial access.

We will also expand our support of diverse entrepreneurs and SMBs as we work toward our new goal.

Embedding sustainable practices

Protecting the environment	33
Enhancing our supply chain processes	37
Ensuring integrity in our business practices	39

Approach

We are committed to acting responsibly and operating with integrity so we can do right by our customers, while considering our impact on all stakeholders and the planet.

To embed sustainable practices, we:

- promote environmental stewardship across our company,
- build a traceable and resilient supply chain, and
- operate with integrity and maintain trust with our stakeholders.

Goals

Aim to reduce our global scope 1 and scope 2 market-based GHG emissions by 65% by 2034 and achieve net zero GHG emissions by 2050.

Aim to spend $100M with diverse suppliers in the U.S. by 2025 to promote growth and financial inclusion across groups that have historical barriers to access the marketplace.

Protecting the environment

Managing climate impact

To create a more secure world, we pledge to be responsible stewards and mitigate our impact on the planet. Our long-term climate goals and plans are aligned with science-based targets to address climate change and support the transition to a low-carbon economy.

Our approach

Managing our greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions is the primary focus of our broader environmental strategy. Across the company, we’re working to understand GHG emission sources to enable accurate measurement of scope 1, 2, and 3 GHG emissions and formulate reduction strategies.

Our goal

Starting from a 2019 baseline, we aim to achieve a 65% reduction in our global scope 1 and scope 2 market-based GHG emissions by 2034 and achieve net zero GHG emissions by 2050. Our 65% reduction target over a 15-year period aligns with the Science Based Target initiative’s (SBTi) 1.5°C scenario.

On average, our annual glide path goal is to achieve a 4.3% reduction in global scope 1 and scope 2 market-based GHG emissions.

Based on current and available data, we are confident we can achieve our goal, and we monitor progress annually to ensure we’re on track.

Our actions and performance in 2023

Scope 1 and scope 2 GHG emissions²⁷

We have been measuring and reporting our U.S. GHG emissions since 2010. In 2022, we began collecting and reporting global emissions for locations we either own or control. Out of our global scope 1 and scope 2 market-based emissions, our U.S. emissions represent nearly 76%.

We saw meaningful decreases in our emissions both in the U.S. and globally in 2023. Our U.S. GHG scope 1 and scope 2 market-based emissions decreased by 13.9% from 2022 to 2023, and our global scope 1 and scope 2 market-based GHG emissions decreased by 14.6% over that same period.

Our emissions decreased as a result of changes to leased office spaces and favorable weather, among other factors. We closed a data center in March and moved those services to a leased location, which reallocates our electricity usage to a downstream asset.

In our leased office spaces, we downsized one building and closed another. One other building became unoccupied between 2022 and 2023, resulting in reductions in our electricity usage. We also made improvements to our lighting fixtures in our parking ramps, which resulted in a decrease of energy use this year.

Warmer temperatures in Des Moines, Iowa (our headquarters) over the winter also contributed to less electricity and natural gas use.

On average, since 2019 we’ve reduced global GHG emissions 11.5% each year, exceeding the annual reduction glide path target of 4.3%.

We exceeded our 2023 target of a 17.3% reduction against our 2019 baseline with a 46% reduction in scope 1 and scope 2 market-based emissions.

Principal maintained “Management” status for environmental stewardship from CDP, after receiving a B rating on our 2023 CDP Climate Change Questionnaire, based on 2022 data. CDP classifies “Management” status as taking coordinated action on climate issues.

Our B rating is higher than the global average (C), North American regional average (C), and consistent with the Financial Services sector average (B). We plan to complete the 2024 CDP Climate Change Questionnaire for 2023 data in Q3 2024.

²⁷ 2023 data will be verified in Q3 2024, and final figures disclosed in the 2024 CDP. MTCO₂e are rounded to the nearest whole number.

Scope 3 GHG emissions²⁸

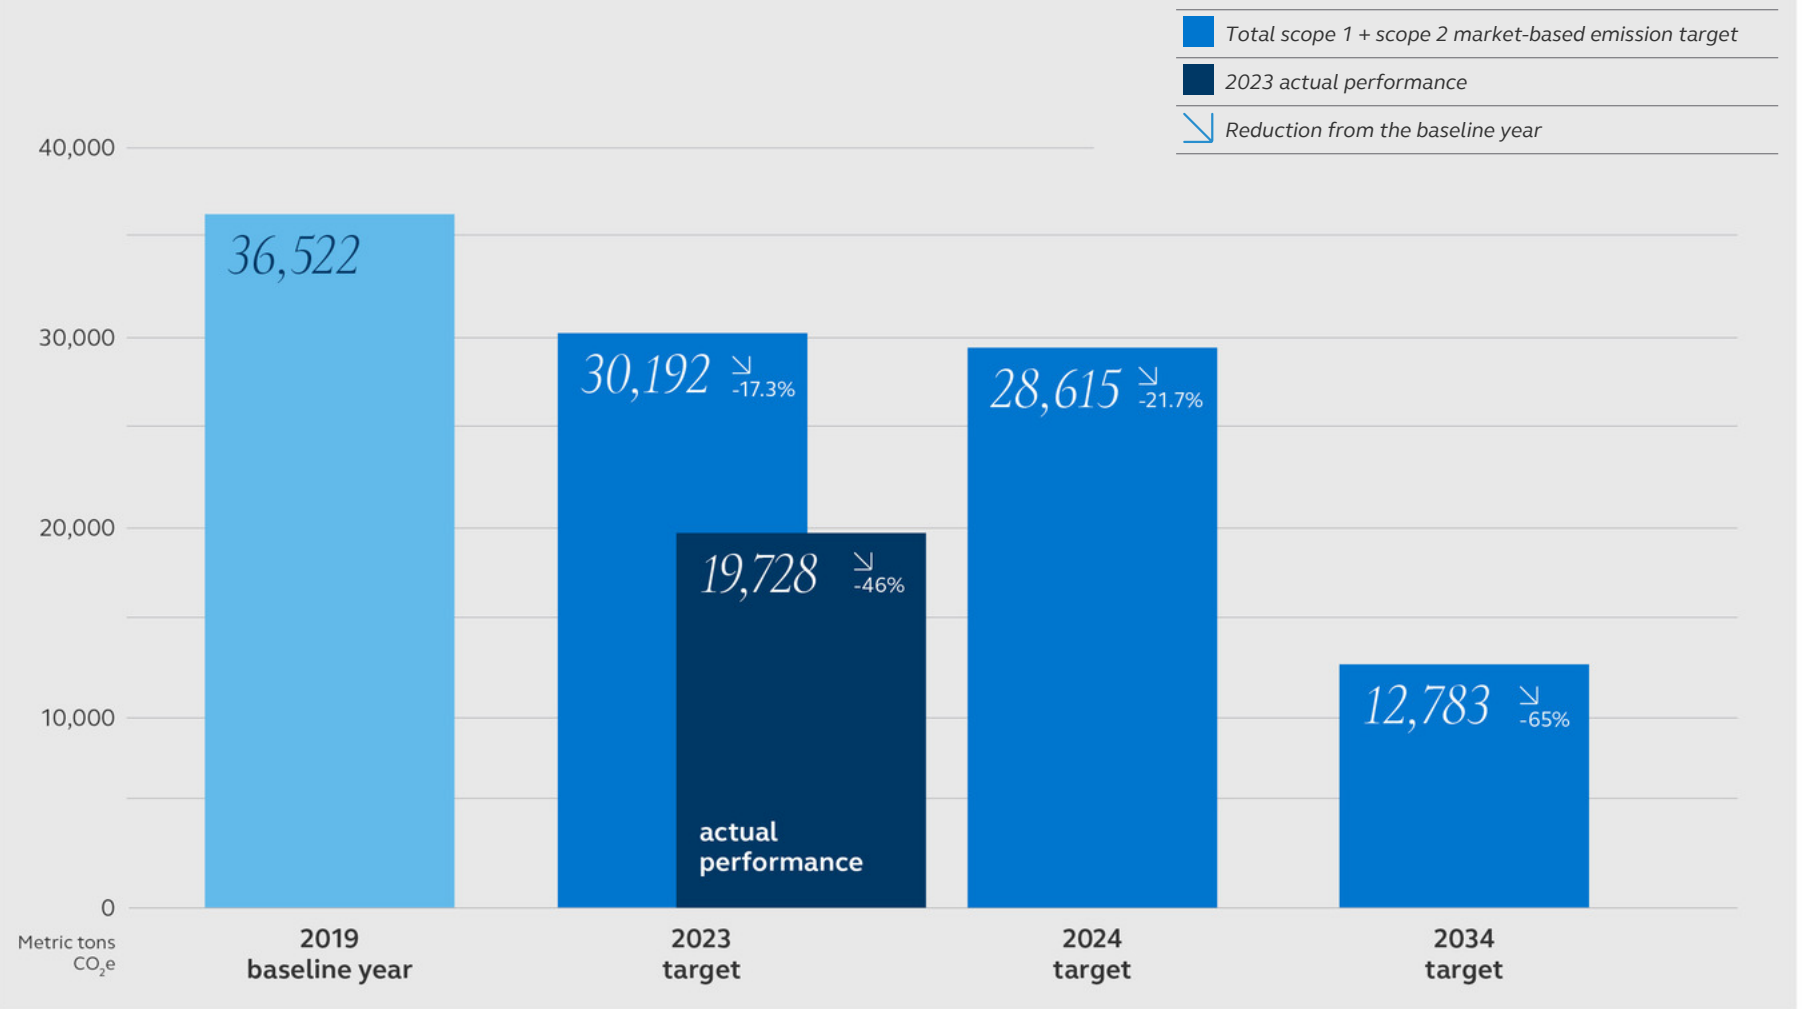

We measure and report our scope 3 GHG emissions from purchased goods and services, fuel and energy-related activities (not included in scope 1 or 2), waste generated in operations, business travel, employee commuting, upstream leased assets, and downstream leased assets.

Our climate action plans require the involvement of all our global operations. In 2023, we initiated our search for a new tool to advance our capabilities and gain information from our suppliers on their environmental performance. Across the organization, these improvements will help us better understand our scope 3 emissions. While there are still gaps in the data available to us, we are proud of the progress we have made.

What's next

In 2024, we remain focused on gaining more transparency into our scope 3 emissions as more data becomes available. This will enable improved strategic planning and reporting and allow us to continue to mature our climate transition strategy. Specifically, we are focusing on specific scope 3 categories including our purchased goods and services, business travel, employee commuting, leased assets, and investments.

Progress toward our 2034 GHG reduction goal

²⁸ Scope 3 GHG emissions data for FY2022 can be found in the 2023 CDP. 2023 values will be verified in Q2 2024, and final figures will be disclosed in the 2024 CDP.

Improving operational environmental performance

We remain committed to integrating responsible energy, water, and waste management practices into our business operations through efficient and sustainable solutions and improvements.

Our approach

Energy-efficient technologies and access to renewable energy sources help us meet our broader goals and further reduce our impact on the environment.

We're mindful of our water consumption and recycling efforts and have formulated action plans to improve our performance.

Furthermore, we've established a system and policy modeled after ISO14001 and designed to:

- reduce energy use and GHG emissions,
- improve water efficiency,
- reduce waste to landfill, and
- increase employee awareness.

While our consumption of energy and water and production of waste are not significant, we continue to routinely measure these areas of our operations to better understand our impact on the environment.

Our actions and performance in 2023

Energy consumption and renewable energy²⁹

From 2022 to 2023, we reduced energy consumption by 13.5% globally and by 13.2% in the U.S. This reduction resulted from our data center being moved to leased space, changes in office spaces, and the decreased need for heating this year from previous years due to warmer weather in Des Moines.

The changes in office space also contributed to a slight decrease in energy from renewable sources as compared to 2022 as these spaces primarily used renewable energy. On a global level, 47.8% of energy came from renewable sources in 2023.

In the U.S., approximately 55.6% of total energy consumption came from renewable sources—a total of 35,578.4 MWh, a small decrease from 2022 as a result of our energy mix using more fuel and less electricity than in the previous year.

Of total U.S. energy usage, 61.3% came from electricity, and approximately 90.8% of electricity consumption came from renewable sources—an increase from 2022. In 2023, we benefited from the ability of our Des Moines utility provider to provide a significant amount of energy from renewable sources. In 2023, the provider confirmed that it provided 100% renewable energy to its Iowa territory in 2022 through its wind fleet, and validated this through the Iowa Utilities Board GreenAdvantage program.

Water consumption³⁰

We incorporate responsible water management practices to meet or exceed Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED®) guidelines for water efficiency and implement water reduction measures wherever possible. Compared to 2022, we saw a 3.3% decrease in water consumption in 2023. Overall, in the last five years we've decreased our water consumption by 43.8%. This can be attributed to a reduction in occupancy in our buildings due to the pandemic and hybrid work arrangements, reducing our overall office usage and therefore decreasing water use.

²⁹ 2023 greenhouse gas emissions and energy consumption values will be verified in Q2 2024, and final figures will be disclosed in the 2024 CDP Climate Questionnaire.

Waste and recycling³¹

In 2023, we diverted 69% of hazardous and nonhazardous waste produced in U.S. facilities where we measure recycling, donating, and composting efforts, with 100% of our hazardous waste being recycled. We continue to make incremental changes in our offices to reduce waste, such as an increase in signage to help employee awareness and education around appropriate waste practices, employee-led environmental initiatives, and a composting program for food service and restrooms.

Our goal is to meet or exceed LEED® guidelines for waste and recycling, which is to maintain a 50% or greater waste diversion rate annually.

of hazardous and nonhazardous waste produced in our U.S. facilities where we measure was diverted in 2023.

Overall we disposed of more waste this year than last year. We believe the primary contributor is an increase in employees working from the office more frequently, resulting in more non-durable goods disposal.

With the relocation of our data center to a leased location in 2023, we increased the amount of electronic waste recycled during the transition process.

Green buildings

We use LEED® certification to ensure efficient and healthy work environments.

Of the Principal owned and occupied portfolio in Des Moines, 93% is LEED® certified, as measured by square footage.

What's next

In November 2023, return to office guidance went into effect for our largest offices. We will monitor how our return to office guidance contributes to our environmental impact, and work to find ways to continue to prioritize responsible environmental management practices.

In 2024, we will be installing smart irrigation systems as well as enhanced cooling tower water controls to monitor and limit water usage.

We will continue to explore innovative technologies and renewable energy options to help reduce our GHG emissions across the globe. We'll also continue to meet LEED guidelines for waste diversion, expand our composting program, and aim to reduce single-use plastics.

Finally, we are continuing to broaden our initiatives to educate our employees and provide more awareness to our stakeholders on environmental efforts and data.

Enhancing our supply chain processes

Supply chain management

We are mindful of our impact on the world and the role our supply chain plays in this. By integrating sustainability considerations into our procurement processes, we're gaining more transparency to help mitigate business risks and create positive change throughout our value chain.

Our approach

We expect all suppliers, vendors, and businesses we work with to comply with our Supplier Code of Conduct \(PDF\), which outlines our expectations and standards for all Principal suppliers regarding labor and human rights, inclusion and diversity, and environmental sustainability, as well as our Global Code of Conduct, which outlines the standards for ethical behavior across our company.

All suppliers are evaluated using risk-based due diligence during onboarding, which includes monitoring and screening for social impacts, negative news, and conduct-related risks. Principal also monitors suppliers for unethical and illegal conduct, adverse civil or criminal litigation, illegal hiring practices, human trafficking, and other unethical behavior and negative media.

Our actions and performance in 2023

In 2023, we formalized our Sustainable Procurement Statement (PDF), which reiterates our commitment to responsible and sustainable procurement practices and partnering with suppliers, vendors, and business partners that share our values of managing environmental impact, respecting labor and human rights, and complying with all applicable labor and environmental laws.

We also implemented a new procurement application that allows us to streamline our sourcing practices, including our risk management processes. The enhanced coordination allows us to better understand risk measurements, including our suppliers' sustainability practices, and for our suppliers to better understand our current practices and expectations as well.

What's next

We aim to improve our screening of new suppliers against sustainability criteria for consideration in our supplier selection process. We also aim to improve our evaluation and review of existing suppliers against the same criteria.

To reach this goal, we will focus on onboarding an additional supplier management tool that utilizes advanced sustainability features and begin to evaluate suppliers using environmental, social, and governance related risks.

Supplier diversity

Working with diverse suppliers, vendors, and business partners helps improve our competitive edge in the global marketplace and contributes to our strategic objectives.

Our approach

In all bidding opportunities we strive to consider businesses owned, controlled, and operated by diverse individuals, including women, people of color, veterans, members of the LGBTQ+ community, and individuals with different abilities. Our supplier diversity program provides criteria and eligibility requirements for diverse suppliers in the U.S. interested in doing business with us.

To create greater economic impact and growth opportunities for diverse suppliers, we aim to spend $100M with diverse suppliers in the U.S. by 2025. We measure progress toward this goal by setting annual targets. In 2023, our goal was to spend $53.2 million of eligible U.S. spend with diverse suppliers. Ultimately, we spent $42.1 million with diverse suppliers.

We were unable to fully meet our 2023 target spend goal due to unforeseen budget constraints and broader economic headwinds that changed our projected spend in areas of the business.

We will continue to refine how we utilize projections in areas of diverse spend to forecast appropriate eligible spend base to establish reasonable supplier diversity goals and look for opportunities to diversify our supplier portfolio.

Our actions and performance in 2023

In 2023, we focused on engaging with our partners in all aspects of supplier diversity, including participating in membership organizations to promote and credential diverse suppliers, providing internal and external education and promotion of supplier diversity as an element of our business strategy, and working directly with our diverse suppliers to enhance their future success.

We remain an active member of the Financial Services Roundtable for Supplier Diversity, a group dedicated to building strong supplier diversity practices in the financial services industry.

We also piloted a supplier development program, pairing a cohort of seven of our diverse suppliers with a national business coach and business growth curriculum. The participants reported a deeper understanding of marketing and strategy, as well as how to grow and sustain their businesses as a result of the program.

Finally, we launched internal educational campaigns by hosting diverse suppliers on campus and presented at several conferences about the contribution of supplier diversity to a successful business strategy.

What's next

In 2024, our goal is to source at least 5% of eligible spend in the U.S. from diverse suppliers, amounting to $42 million through tier one and tier two spending.

We hope to reach this goal through the following actions:

- Create ownership and accountability by working with category managers and individual business units in the U.S. to identify potential sourcing opportunities for new and diverse suppliers.
- Partner with our Employee Resource Groups to embolden and build champions for supplier diversity throughout our organization within the departments and teams they lead and participate in.
- Monitor the status of supplier diversity metrics and celebrate and report achievements and progress internally and externally.
- Build and maintain a robust and qualified diverse supplier list that is shared with any buyer throughout the organization to reference when seeking a supplier.
- Provide a channel for Principal employees to directly identify diverse suppliers for the supplier diversity team for further assessment and evaluation.

- Strengthen collaboration with our tier one non-diverse suppliers to promote their use of diverse suppliers. This collaboration improves the overall health of the diverse supplier ecosystem and makes our values clear to our non-diverse suppliers.

Ensuring integrity in our business practices

Our approach to corporate governance

Good governance has been an important part of our heritage and our success. Each generation of management is committed to ensuring Principal is governed well to build transparency, accountability, and effective risk management, fostering trust with our customers and shareholders.

Our approach

We believe that for boards to oversee material sustainability matters effectively, they need the right committee structures and reporting processes. We see board leadership structure, the role of the board in overseeing risks, and board diversity as essential elements for strong corporate governance.

Board leadership structure

The Principal Financial Group Board of Directors (“Board”) exercises flexibility to structure its leadership as needed. The Board believes that its current leadership, in which the roles of Chairman and CEO are combined, an independent Lead Director is appointed and Board committees are led by independent directors, strikes the appropriate balance between effective Company leadership and strong oversight and safeguards by independent directors. The Board regularly reviews the effectiveness of this shared leadership approach.

The Board has four standing Committees:

Audit, Finance, Human Resources, and Nominating and Governance.

- Finance Committee charter \(PDF\)
- Human Resources Committee charter \(PDF\)
- Nominating and Governance Committee charter \(PDF\)

Role of the Board in overseeing sustainability-related risks

The Nominating and Governance Committee of the Board monitors risks and mitigation related to our enterprise sustainability strategy, goals, and performance, as well as our political contribution activities. It also receives updates from management regarding the sustainability-related activities and key initiatives and provides guidance to the Board, other Board committees, and management (as appropriate) concerning material sustainability matters. For example, twice per year the Nominating and Governance Committee is informed about specific environmental metrics, such as our greenhouse gas emissions reduction targets and performance.

The Audit and Human Resources Committees provide additional oversight of specific environmental, social, and governance matters.

Board diversity

Our Board is reaping the benefits of diversity and sees this as an essential element to a robust understanding of customers, opportunities, issues, and risks.

The Nominating and Governance Committee reviews the Board’s diversity when recruiting new Directors. Characteristics for diversity include business and industry skills and experience, varying abilities, ethnicity, gender, generation, geography, and sexual orientation. Our Board diversity policy is reviewed annually, which helps govern the Board’s approach to selecting new members and determining its optimum composition to reflect the diverse nature of our business environment.

Maintaining an ethical culture

We have built a strong reputation for being an ethical and trustworthy company. That's why we enforce anti-bribery and anti-corruption practices and policies, and show honesty and integrity as we interact with our customers, business partners, and each other.

Our approach

Our Ethics and Compliance Program is grounded in our core value of doing what's right. To maintain high ethical standards, we reinforce the understanding of and adherence to our Global Code of Conduct, related policies, and legal and regulatory requirements across the organization by delivering education, training, and conducting risk assessments.

We gauge our ethical culture by conducting an annual survey among our employees. The Ethical Culture Survey, administered through a well-respected external party, identifies both positive and potentially challenging insights into our corporate culture. This enables us to benchmark our results year-over-year and to compare our results with industry peers and cross-industry participants.

Our actions and performance in 2023

The 2023 results of the survey reflected our employees' belief in our commitment to maintain a strong ethical culture, adhering to our Global Code of Conduct and core values, and assuring we do what's right. The results make clear that our employees understand our policies and procedures and trust that we maintain a "safe to say" environment. When benchmarked against our peer group, Principal consistently scores at or above industry standards on many of the pillars that comprise the survey.

We regularly benchmark our Ethics and Compliance Program through our membership of the Business Ethics Leadership Alliance (BELA), a group sponsored by the Ethisphere Institute, and the Department of Justice Guidance. The Enterprise Chief Ethics and Compliance Officer shares assessment results with executive leadership and the Audit Committee of the Principal Board of Directors.

This marks the 13th time Principal has been recognized for its ethical leadership and business practices since the Ethisphere list launched in 2006.

Alignment with our Global Code of Conduct

All employees must complete annual training and acknowledgment related to our Global Code of Conduct (Code). The computer-based training (CBT) course covers topics that are contained in the Code. The topics covered rotate on a three-year basis. They include anti-bribery and corruption, human rights and human trafficking, economic sanctions, insider trading, antitrust and competition laws, social media and news media, employee pressure, protecting and using company assets, conflicts of interest, intellectual property, complaint handling, gifts and entertainment, political activity, financial crimes, and whistleblowing.

Topics covered in the 2023 CBT included reporting Code violations, employee pressure, protecting and using company assets, conflicts of interest, intellectual property, and bribery and corruption. Once they complete the training, employees sign an attestation of understanding and acceptance. Every Director and employee of Principal is accountable for following the Code.

³² 2024 designation is based on results as of August 2023.

In 2023, 99.9% of active employees completed training on our Global Code of Conduct. We used quizzes to test participants' knowledge of the material and concepts covered in the course.

The Ethics and Compliance team, Corporate Special Investigations Unit, management, and other compliance personnel, regularly review the effectiveness of the Code by:

- monitoring the Ethics Hotline and reviewing metrics for trends,
- releasing an Annual Report of Investigations to employees via our internal employee website,
- requiring annual Code training for all employees,
- conducting an annual ethical culture survey,
- tracking employee views of ethics and compliance policies on our internal employee website each quarter,
- completing annual risk assessments, and
- reporting quarterly to various compliance areas, which includes closed investigations and outcomes.

Each year we provide Ethical Culture Survey results to leaders and identify areas of strength as well as opportunities for improvement. We also supply suggestions and resources for having regular ethics-related discussions with their teams.

Reporting unethical behavior

If our employees, customers, or business partners need to report concerns about unethical or fraudulent activity pertaining to Principal, they can do so through the Ethics Hotline by phone (U.S. only) or submit an online reporting form (available globally). Both offer anonymous options where geographically allowed. Anonymous concerns go directly to a third party not affiliated with Principal.

Employees also have the option to report suspicious activity to the Enterprise Chief Ethics and Compliance Officer, the Chief Compliance Officer in their area, the Chief Privacy Officer, the employee relations consultant or Human Resources, or a member of the Corporate Special Investigations Unit. In addition to the Code of Conduct, the methods for reporting suspicious activity are outlined in various Enterprise policies (e.g., the Whistleblower Policy, the Compliance Policy, the Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy) and are available to employees.

We regularly remind employees about the Ethics Hotline to report suspected fraudulent or unethical activities. In 2023, 100% of submissions to our Ethics Hotline were fully reviewed and investigated.

Every year, representatives from each compliance area work together to produce a consolidated enterprise compliance risk assessment, which identifies key compliance risks across the organization. The 2023 results, which are currently being finalized, will help inform the compliance team's strategic focus.

Anti-bribery, anti-corruption, and conflicts of interest

We are committed to supporting international and local efforts to eliminate corruption and financial crimes. To ensure we stay vigilant, we conduct annual anti-bribery and corruption (AB&C) risk assessments.

The Enterprise Chief Ethics and Compliance Officer is accountable for the AB&C Policy and program, and reports bribery and corruption risks to the Audit Committee of the Board of Directors. In 2023, 100% of Board members and executive and senior management teams were provided with materials on AB&C, trends in the industry, and were kept informed of future priorities of our program.

No charges were filed by any regulator against Principal for corruption in 2023.

What's next

In 2024, we remain focused on benchmarking and ongoing evaluation of our Ethics and Compliance Program, providing employee communications and training on key risk-related topics, and maintaining a pulse on our ethical culture through our annual ethical culture survey.

Enterprise risk and oversight

Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) is a key part of our business model at Principal. We have formalized our ERM approach to systematically identify, measure, monitor, communicate, and manage risks within defined limits and risk tolerances.

Our approach

Our ERM policy and related resources set guidelines, targets, and limits to mitigate undesirable risk, behavior, or concentrations. We leverage an integrated risk management framework to help inform strategic and tactical decision-making and help us adapt to changes in our businesses and the external environment.

Each business unit has its own committee that oversees the risks that are material to it and meet regularly. We also have internal committees that provide oversight around a certain risk or group of related risks across the enterprise. This matrix approach helps us maintain comprehensive risk coverage and preserve an integrated view of risks.

The Enterprise Risk Management Committee, comprises members from the executive management group, exercises enterprise-wide oversight for our most significant risk profiles. The Committee met seven times during 2023 covering a wide range of enterprise risk topics with considerable focus on information security, financial risk, insider risk, and audit and risk consulting.

We maintain an enterprise-wide risk management function where business units and functional areas have primary responsibility for identifying, assessing, monitoring, reporting, and managing their own risks.

The Executive Vice President/Chief Risk Officer, our Chief Enterprise Risk Management Officer, and supporting staff (independent of the business areas) work with each business area's risk professionals to provide oversight, frameworks, and aggregated risk analysis. This results in a model where risk management can be closer to actual risks while also facilitating effective oversight and consolidation at the enterprise level. Additionally, our Board of Directors provides oversight of risk-related topics at least quarterly.

Internal Audit provides independent, risk-based, and objective assurance and advice designed to add value and improve our operations.

We use measurement, reporting, communication, and escalation procedures to make our risk position transparent, and apply appropriate risk management practices.

Our actions and performance in 2023

- Added subject matter experts (technology risk, fiduciary, etc.) to Enterprise Risk Management who can continue to drive capabilities and partnership to improve second line consultation in high-risk areas.
- Matured processes by taking inventory and assessing the various risk reports and key risk indicators (KRI) used by each business unit risk team to determine areas of overlap and inconsistencies—both internationally and domestically—to identify, assess, and mitigate risk among key programs such as incident management and operational loss and business continuity relationships.
- Enhanced our key risk indicators program to improve the data in our operational risk profile. We matured our KRI program by reviewing and refreshing our list of metrics. This includes adding new metrics, revising current metrics, and removing metrics that were determined to no longer provide value.
- Fully integrated a quarterly assessment of our capital at risk into our Board review. This assessment focuses on changes driven by the shifting macro environment and the impact on our various businesses.

Climate-related risk management

ERM uses a variety of scenario planning, risk assessments, modeling, and exercises to identify, assess, and manage current or potential climate risks and opportunities in our business practices. As transition and physical (acute and chronic) climate risks are identified, we incorporate material factors into ERM activities. While these vary according to the line of business, product, and service, understanding and reacting to them is important to our ERM practices.

We use a risk-based approach, including materiality, likelihood, and severity, to help management prioritize risks. Risk acceptance, mitigation, control, or transfer are all considered as risk-informed decisions and are made across the enterprise as part of implementing our business strategy.

We have also established a cross-departmental committee to prepare and report on climate-related risks like those in the SEC Climate Disclosure. The committee includes representation from legal, accounting, risk, and others to ensure we are prepared to respond efficiently and effectively to upcoming regulations.

Looking ahead, primary oversight of climate disclosures will be part of our Board Audit Committee's oversight of financial statements and SEC disclosures, which is in line with industry benchmarking and best practices.

As an asset owner, the real estate investment teams assess our portfolio's exposure to climate-related risks and opportunities.

As part of each new development project and property acquisition, we review physical and transitional climate risks through a third-party climate risk data provider:

- Physical risks reviews a property's risk of exposure to seven physical hazards: flooding, heat stress, hurricanes and typhoons, sea level rise, water stress, wildfires, and earthquakes. Identified high-risk hazards are incorporated in the property's design, third-party inspections, capital improvements, and operational procedures.
- Transition risk analysis estimates the property's carbon reduction requirements to comply with the 1.5°, 2°, and 3°C warming scenarios in the next 15 years and any energy disclosure or reduction requirements the property is subject to.

Cybersecurity and data privacy

Protecting the confidentiality of the personal data entrusted to us by our customers, employees, and business partners is of utmost importance to us. That's why we take proactive approaches to keep our systems secure, continually assess for emerging risks, and ensure employees are sufficiently trained on handling sensitive information.

Our approach Cybersecurity

We understand the nature of cyber threats and the importance of being able to defend against and respond to them. As a result, cybersecurity is overseen by the full Board of Directors. Directors and the Executive Management Group receive at least one cybersecurity report every quarter from the Chief Information Officer, the Chief Information Security Officer, Chief Risk Officer or other professionals. These reports ensure management maintains an enterprise-wide cyber risk program with the necessary policies, practices, and controls to effectively manage risks and ensure resiliency in the face of potential cyber threats.

We proactively assess risk on new services or systems integrated with Principal network or data. In our current systems and applications, we continuously test for and resolve weaknesses and vulnerabilities using network and infrastructure vulnerability testing, dynamic application security testing, static application security testing, and adversary emulation. The frequency of automated vulnerability scanning varies from daily to monthly depending on the type of testing and target.

Principal also undergoes a third-party assessment of our information security program maturity every two years. The last assessment occurred in 2022 and we showed improvement across all assessed NIST categories.

Our controls are frequently updated and refined based on learnings from regular red team engagements that are responsible for discerning security vulnerabilities through penetration testing and daily analysis by threat hunters. All operations are refined through a dedicated cyber threat intelligence function.

Cybersecurity will continue to be a dynamic area, which requires that we remain agile and aware of internal and external changes. Information security will provide proactive approaches to cloud and data security and ensure there is a strong partnership with engineering and business teams. This includes requiring cybersecurity training for all engineers and others involved in software deployment.

Our enterprise approach to data security in the cloud remains consistent with our overall data security strategy of protecting the personal data entrusted to us by our customers, employees, business partners, and other individuals.

Principal is a member of the Cyber Readiness Institute (CRI), which brings together expertise from global companies to provide free resources that improve cyber readiness. We believe helping small and mid-sized businesses (SMBs) to be more cyber ready encourages a team approach to cyber defense for both our customers and our suppliers. We meet regularly with CRI to provide content for their program and take part in their SMB business meetings.

Data privacy

Privacy risk assessments

We are continuing to enhance our oversight over how personal data is managed across the global Principal footprint. We've enhanced our visibility into privacy risk management, rolling out targeted assessments in global regions to help mitigate privacy risk in business processes.

Our privacy impact assessment is designed to identify, evaluate, and mitigate potential privacy risks, ensure we use personal data in transparent ways, and follow all applicable laws. Our business and technology partners are expected to complete privacy assessments for any new use of personal data. The assessment is updated if the use changes, or is reviewed and updated annually, whichever comes first. Privacy rights and concerns

The Global Privacy Statement \(PDF\) provides direction to individuals on how they can exercise their data subject rights or raise data privacy concerns.

We also protect the privacy rights of Principal employees by ensuring that all employees, including leaders, understand and abide by appropriate data privacy practices in regions where employee data is subject to certain privacy regulations and restrictions.

Other ways we protect both personal and non-personal information:

- New hires and employees must complete annual information security and privacy-related courses. Training is offered every quarter and additional role-based training is provided for certain roles.
- All employees must complete and sign a confidentiality acknowledgment.
- Our Global Privacy Statement details how personal data may be collected, used, transferred, accessed or otherwise shared at Principal and by all personnel.
- We run a phishing simulation program to train employees to recognize and report phishing attacks. Employees receive at least two phishing simulations each quarter.

- We have a comprehensive, enterprise third-party risk management program to help ensure proper management of confidential personal, and proprietary data.
- Our Enterprise Written Information Security Program (WISP) aligns with the National Institute of Standards and Technology (NIST) Cybersecurity Framework functions: identify, protect, detect, respond, and recover.
- We carry out annual cybersecurity incident response exercises involving multiple levels of management.
- Our Cybersecurity Working Group—comprising individuals with privacy, legal, compliance, risk, audit, and cybersecurity expertise—provides valuable input and feedback to formal information security governance groups.

Information security and data privacy are Board-level topics, therefore quarterly Board reports include key metrics, an overview of the threat landscape, progress on strategic initiatives, and timely awareness topics. Our risk oversight and operational diligence has contributed to us not experiencing any significant incidents in our more than 140 years of being in business.

Our actions and performance in 2023

In 2023, we expanded our Consent and Preference Management capability along with enhancements to our one-stop shop for customers—the online Privacy Center. Our Privacy Center is now more user-friendly and makes it easier for individuals to understand both our privacy practices and how they can exercise their personal data rights in accordance with applicable law.

We consolidated and streamlined our jurisdictional privacy policies into a unified Global Privacy Statement which is applicable to the collection and use of personal data across the global enterprise.

We have appointed new data protection officers (DPOs) in multiple regions, including the Philippines and Latin America to adhere to regulatory requirements and as a best practice. Recurring roundtables have been established to ensure clear lines of communication as privacy regulations across the world evolve.

In 2023, an average of 97% of global employees completed information security trainings on time and 99% of global employees completed the global data privacy training.

What's next

In 2024, we aim to enhance our privacy capabilities in the areas of incident response, regulatory change management, and privacy risk assessment. Privacy laws across the globe are changing at a rapid pace and these adjustments will help us ensure that we're maturing the program along with regulatory landscape changes.

New privacy enhancing technology will be deployed in 2024, helping the business to assess and mitigate privacy risks through a revamped privacy impact assessment process.

In cybersecurity, our focus for 2024 is to transform cloud security maturity by implementing advanced security controls, adopting industry best practices, and continuously evolving policies and standards to protect cloud resources.

To harness the power of our people, we:

- create and maintain an inclusive work environment, and
- cultivate an enriching experience for all employees.

Goals

Achieve a score of 82% or above annually on our proprietary Global People Inclusion Index, which measures the sentiments of our global employees in relation to culture and empowerment.

Achieve a score of 100% annually on our proprietary U.S. Diversity Index, consisting of measures that include the hiring, promotion, and turnover rates for diverse employees.

Achieve a score of 79% on our proprietary Employee Engagement Index in 2024, measuring satisfaction across our global workforce.

Advancing global inclusion

Global inclusion in the workplace

We strive to create and maintain a work environment where all employees feel valued, respected, and included, enabling them to do their best work.

Our approach

We believe that a culture of inclusion is foundational to who we are, the change we have driven, and the future we are creating.

Our global inclusion strategy contributes to accelerating business outcomes and innovation by creating a more diverse, equitable, and inclusive workplace, embedding inclusion in our business practices, and giving back and strengthening the communities in which we operate.

This commitment to global inclusion starts at the top. Our Chairman, President, and CEO serves as sponsor of our Executive Inclusion Council, which comprises cross-functional business leaders and is the custodian of our global inclusion strategy.

Read more about our Global Inclusion strategy

Our global inclusion strategy in our workplace outlines our multi-year path toward these objectives and is informed by three key results:

- Our Global People Inclusion Index (GPII) measures a culture of belonging, respect, learning, and trying new things. Conducted three times per year, the GPII tells us how employees are experiencing Principal.

³³ Federal law and related OFCCP regulations require federal contractors and subcontractors to implement AAPs to ensure equal opportunities for qualified applicants and employees. AAP goals are used to measure progress against affirmative action requirements.

- In turn, the results enable leaders and teams to quickly respond to challenges and identify areas of opportunity, ultimately driving real-time, positive change.
- Through our U.S. Affirmative Action Program (AAP)³³ we provide equal opportunity to qualified applicants and employees, in alignment with our talent strategy and regulatory obligations. Our AAP includes annual affirmative action training for all involved in people selection processes, with ongoing monitoring spanning outreach, recruitment, job descriptions, applicants, hires, promotions, terminations, performance ratings, compensation, accommodations, and recordkeeping. The program is overseen by our dedicated senior AAP manager, and our Executive Management Group ensures its successful implementation.
- Our U.S. Diversity Index measures diversity using 17 metrics that measure progress and areas of opportunity across the business. It serves as a pivotal component within our enterprise balance scorecard, a comprehensive metric assessing our organization's overall well-being.

Employee representation makes up 85% of the weighted metric with the remaining weight focused on areas like employee education and supplier diversity. Inclusion in the workplace:
Growth in diversity

We are committed to attracting and retaining a workforce with broad perspectives that is well-positioned to serve the diverse needs of our customers.

To measure progress against our strategy and ensure equal employment opportunity, we track representation within our U.S. employee population with an aspiration of aligning to market availability. To determine availability benchmarks, as a federal contractor we reference the Census EEO Tabulation created by the U.S. Census Bureau, OFCCP, and other agencies, which provides a single resource for statistical demographic data by location.

An Air National Guard member finds support and community as an employee at Principal.

We track and report representation within our U.S. employee population to ensure fair and equitable treatment for all. We're proud of the progress we've made and understand this is a journey.

In 2023, we made additional progress against availability benchmarks:

- Increased the number of women in leadership positions to 41.0%, compared to availability benchmarks of 43%.
- Increased the number of people of color in leadership positions to 10.1%, compared to availability benchmarks of 13%.
- Increased the number of people of color in non-leadership positions to 18.1%, compared to availability benchmarks of 19%.
- Increased the number of persons with disabilities to 5.0%, compared to availability benchmarks of 7.0%.
- Increased the number of veterans to 3.2%, compared to availability benchmarks of 5.5%.

Our goal³⁴ is to achieve and sustain availability benchmarks. Considering external and internal historical trends, we're on track to achieve availability benchmarks which are our goals by 2026.

³⁴ Goals are subject to change as/if availability benchmarks change. Goals are currently established for Principal Financial Group U.S. workforce only.

Within our leadership bands, people of color in senior management positions increased to 23%, up from 18% in 2022. Additionally, people of color in management positions increased to nearly 8%, up from 7% in 2022. In our total U.S. workforce, we've seen a 4.2% increase of people of color, from 15.6% in 2022 to 16.3% in 2023. Additionally, in 2023 persons with disabilities made up approximately 5% of our U.S. workforce, up from 4.5% in 2022, and veterans made up approximately 3.2%, up from 3.1% in 2022.

Global representation

We continue to track and report gender representation across our global workforce. In 2023, women made up 54% of our global workforce, 30% of our IT department, and 26% of our engineering workforce. In the U.S., approximately 61% of employees promoted in 2023 were women, up from 56% in 2022.

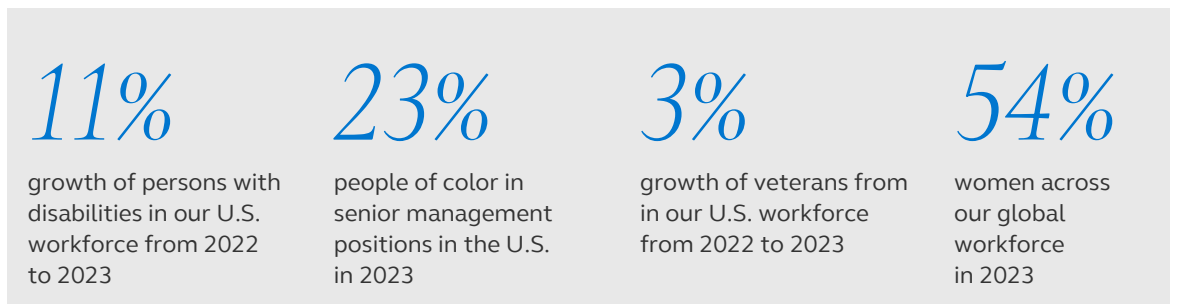

Globally, our workforce spans five generations. The average age of our global workforce is 42.

We continue to track and report demographic information for our U.S. and global workforce, where available and aim to add other dimensions of diversity as we enhance system capabilities. This allows us to continue making progress toward our diversity goals.

Inclusion in the workplace: Pay equity

One of the guiding principles of our global pay philosophy is to be market driven. This means that total pay is set and administered in alignment with the external labor markets in which we compete for talent. We use third-party market data to help ensure base salary and incentives are appropriately aligned. We obtain this data through our annual participation in salary surveys administered by unaffiliated consulting firms. Employees receive an annual compensation statement that explains the components of their pay and how their performance influences the awards they receive.

Pay equity is central to our compensation practices and policies. We conduct an annual global pay audit with a credible third-party to identify unexplained differences in pay between employees doing similar work in commensurate positions. On a global level, our pay audit includes a gender pay gap assessment, and in the U.S., our pay audit includes both a gender and a racial pay gap assessment. While we do not currently disclose the specific results of our pay audit, we continue to be proud of our gender and racial pay equity performance, which support that our pay aligns with our stated non-discriminatory compensation philosophies.

To promote pay transparency, we continue to post the minimum and maximum salary ranges for all open positions in the U.S.—both internally and externally. We believe that disclosing the salary range for all U.S.-based open positions is not only crucial to giving individuals more agency—especially women and people of color—but it's also a necessary step to reducing pay disparities, creating a fair application and recruitment process, and finding highly qualified candidates.

As of December 31, 2023, the ratio of the annual total compensation of the CEO to the annual total compensation of the median employee was 194:1.

Engaging our employees

Attracting and retaining talent

Our employees are our most valued asset. We take a comprehensive approach to attracting top talent and prioritize the health and wellness of our employees.

Our approach

To deliver on our purpose, we must equip our teams with the best talent in the market. We do this by proactively reaching out to top talent for critical roles, collaborating with our marketing team to activate our employment brand on social media channels, and ensuring that we focus on hiring in early career roles that provide opportunities for development and growth.

We strive to bring out the best in our people by investing in what matters to them, which allows us to proactively engage and retain an inclusive workforce at Principal. Our employee value proposition underscores the components most important to our employees, including a tailored and flexible approach to life and work, opportunities for growth and development, and a sense of connection to our purpose.

Learn more about our careers at Principal

Increasing representation in our talent pool

We believe every candidate should have an equal opportunity for their hopeful position and we promise a fair interview process to select the best-fit candidate. We deliver this promise by using DECIDE training to teach interviewers how to mitigate bias by using a consistent question structure for all candidates to deliver an unbiased interview.

Data helps us identify where we can increase representation for certain groups, how to increase representation throughout the hiring process, and how to target locations where we can find top talent. We also use targeted campaigns to increase diverse candidates in critical roles like women in information technology.

Our actions and performance in 2023

In 2023, 34% of our U.S. hires were people of color. Globally, 51% of hires were female, 49% were males, and 0.45% were gender non-identifying or non-reporting.

In 2023, approximately 68% of new hires were in international locations, and 32% were in the U.S. The total number of new hires globally was 3,749.

Engagement Index

2022	78%
2021	79%
2020	83%

Employee Engagement Index

Our Engagement Index measures employee satisfaction across our global workforce. In 2023, we maintained a strong level of employee satisfaction and met our 2023 goal with a score of 79% and an 85% response rate. Our score indicates that across the questions that make up our Engagement Index, 79% were positive responses. We assess the results in a variety of ways, including by gender, to ensure we are creating an inclusive work environment and a consistent employee experience that aligns with our employee value proposition and core values.

In 2023 both our female and male employee base had 79% engagement, which is consistent with results in prior years. Our goal remains to reach an Engagement Index of 79% in 2024.

In the U.S., the response rate for our employees of color was an all-time high. In 2023, 74% of our employees of color participated, compared to 57% in 2021. And for the first time, our engagement index score for employees of color was 78%, which is comparable to the engagement index score of white employees at 77%.

When setting our annual goals, we take into careful consideration our historical engagement performance data, as well as internal and external trends we've observed over the past several years to inform our future goal. We also collaborate with cross-functional teams to ensure our goals align with other enterprise and business level goals.

Additionally, we also use a scorecard to measure talent metrics across several categories—culture, talent attraction, employee retention, and leadership and development—to evaluate how we can provide a valuable and rewarding experience for our employees.

For example, we continued to advance our global mentoring program, including an expanded network, increased awareness of career opportunities, and increased retention to provide a meaningful leadership and development opportunity for our employees. We've found that current and past global mentoring program participants (both mentors and mentees) are approximately 50% less likely to terminate their employment with Principal compared to non-participants.³⁶

Overall, between 2022 and 2023, our global turnover improved from 21% to 17%, and our U.S. turnover improved from 13% to 10%.

What's next

In an effort to gain insights early and effectively, in June we introduced a fully automated, company-wide onboarding survey to our new global employees at their 14th, 60th, and 90th days at Principal. We'll use employee insights to better understand what has attracted key talent, gaps to their initial productivity, overall satisfaction and lead indicators for under 90-day turnover. We will have more data and insights in 2024 to consider actions on identified themes.

When we look to 2024, we will continue to focus on delivering a personalized employee experience, with a focus on continuing to enhance onboarding, helping employees establish a network, and providing tailored development opportunities.

Our new goals

We continue to find ways to expand access to and engagement in the core development programs we offer. This year, we've set new goals to strive to increase our performance in these areas.

- Make 50% of core enterprise learning and development programming available in Spanish.
- Cross-train facilitators on 50% of core enterprise learning and development programming.

Our actions and performance in 2023

Historically, it was challenging for us to collect and aggregate data for training across our organization as different parts of the business utilized different systems. This past year, we implemented a new process to allow us to better track and report training hours.

In 2023, our employees participated in 58,061 hours of voluntary learning and development, which is equal to about 2.9 hours per employee. Leaders specifically engaged in 7,229 hours of voluntary learning and development in 2023.

In 2023, approximately 189 employees participated in our educational assistance program that offers employees financial assistance with their job-related educational pursuits. In 2023, this totaled over $615,680 in investment by the organization.

We hired 244 interns in 2023 and continued our focus on early and mid-level career opportunities and recruiting diverse and underrepresented talent through partnerships like Jobs for America's Graduates (jJAG), Girls Who Invest, Seizing Every Opportunity, and the International Association of Black Actuaries.

In 2023, 95.6% of global employees received a rating as part of an annual performance review process.

Supporting our communities

Our philanthropic philosophy	58
Our community investments	59
Our work in the community	60

Approach

For many, financial security feels like a destination, but Principal and Principal® Foundation believe it's a journey and we work every day to create opportunities for people to embark on that journey.

Through volunteerism, philanthropic grants, and community-focused sponsorships and activations, Principal and Principal Foundation strive to strengthen communities and pave pathways to financial security in the places where we work and live around the world.

Principal® Foundation philanthropic philosophy

The road to financial security is not a universal path. It is a unique, personal journey.

Our approach

Principal Foundation is committed to removing barriers, creating opportunities, and empowering more people to build financially secure futures. Principal Foundation is a duly recognized 501(c)(3) non-profit entity focused on providing philanthropic support to programs that build financial security in the communities where Principal Financial Group, Inc. (“Principal”) operates. While Principal Foundation receives funding from Principal, Principal Foundation is a distinct, independent, charitable entity.

Our grantmaking supports organizations whose work focuses on building people’s wherewithal to pursue financial security and expands access to the resources they need to reach their goals.

Specifically, our funding champions programs that address essential needs and promote financial enablement of individuals and small businesses.

Essential needs

When individuals’ essential needs are met, they have a sense of security, allowing them to focus on education and skill development and participate in the workforce, all of which are pathways to financial security. Therefore, we fund programs that provide food, shelter, and disaster and crisis relief around the globe.

Financial enablement

Grantmaking by Principal Foundation around financial enablement seeks to nurture a healthy ecosystem by funding programs that create and foster the conditions necessary for economic development. Our grants in this area fall into three categories: small business support, financial health and well-being research, and social and cultural connections.

Small businesses represent 99% of all companies nationwide that have paid employees, and they play a vital role in boosting local economies.³⁷ As such, small businesses are a pathway to financial security for many. We fund organizations that help create a vibrant support network for small businesses, which provides the financial and technical assistance they need to thrive and keep their owners and employees on the financial security journey.

The more we understand the barriers individuals face on the road to financial security, the better we can identify ways to clear the path and accelerate progress. We continue to invest in research that explores financial health and identifies policies, practices, and products that the financial sector, employers, and policymakers could adopt to better serve groups facing financial insecurity around the world.

Research demonstrates that when communities are connected to the arts through social and cultural institutions, it creates fertile ground for economic and human development. Social and cultural institutions unify communities, boost local economies, spark innovation, and improve academic outcomes. That’s why we fund programs that expand access to social and cultural connections.

Stories of Impact³⁸

Nutrition security: WesleyLife Meals on Wheels

WesleyLife Meals on Wheels received funding to aid with the expansion of a new campus for their programs. This project tripled the organization's capacity to prepare and serve 3,000 nutritional meals per day to home-bound adults in central Iowa. The new facility includes the nation's only hydroponic garden associated with a Meals on Wheels location. This program is more than just providing a hot meal: The new facilities have on-site multigenerational programming designed to help combat isolation among older adults.

Housing security: Minnesota Assistance Council for Veterans

Housing security is an important part of the journey to feeling financially secure, and this is especially important for veterans. Minnesota Assistance Council for Veterans received a grant from Principal Foundation to address this very issue. Their vision is for every veteran in Minnesota to have access to services and support to avoid homelessness and achieve sustainable housing. In 2022, they provided $3.4 million in direct financial assistance, provided comprehensive services to over 1700 individuals and families, and in total 427 veterans became housed.

Disaster relief: Maui Economic Disaster Relief: Maui Economic Development Board

A disaster can have detrimental impact on the journey to financial security. While hygiene products, food and water are quick to arrive in impacted areas, financial resources that fuel recovery often lag. Principal Foundation therefore concentrates our disaster relief on supporting long-term recovery efforts. For example, following the Maui wildfires, Principal Foundation provided funds to the Maui Economic Development Board (MEDB) to launch the Maui Business Recovery Fund, which distributed emergency funds to 95 small businesses to use as they saw fit to support their recovery efforts.

Small and midsize (SMB) business support: Washington Area Community Investment Fund Inc. (Wacif)

Fostering the SMB ecosystem is a fundamental part of the mission of Principal Foundation. When entrepreneurs and SMBs thrive they create a stronger community. Wacif's mission is to promote equity and economic opportunity in the underserved neighborhoods in the Washington, D.C. region. Wacif's work has resulted in 5,216 jobs created or retained, 665 hours of technical assistance given, and over $24.8 million loans and grants distributed. Over $13.8 million in total capital was given specifically to support women of color entrepreneurs.

Barrier removal: United Way Worldwide Ride United Transportation Access

One of the biggest barriers many people face on their way to financial security is accessing the transportation needed to complete education, receive health care, or to secure or maintain employment. United Way Worldwide received grant funding for their Ride United Transportation Access Program. During their 2022–2023 program year, they provided 154,827 rides, serving 35,183 unique clients across 2,345 cities.

Social and culture connections: Feel Your Best Self (FYBS)

When a person's mental health suffers, so does the ability to advance their financial security journey. We seek to address mental health in affirming, nonjudgmental ways through Principal Foundation grantmaking. One such example is collaborating with University of Connecticut's Feel Your Best Self program, which provides tools for mental wellness to school-age children, families, and committees. FYBS had over 39,000 toolkits downloaded, more than 116,645 YouTube views, won five kids entertainment awards, a Kidscreen Award, and four Telly awards. Employees from Principal worldwide also participated in puppet-making and kit-building events to distribute to local youth.

Our work in the community

Our approach

Encouraging Principal employees to bring their passions and purpose to work is the core of the Principal Gives Back program, which connects them to our philanthropic culture through volunteer opportunities and incentives and a match giving program. The program draws on the expertise and resources of the business to strengthen communities and create lasting impact in the cities where our employees live and work.

True to our culture, our participants supported 4,312 causes across 30 countries and volunteered over 64,000 hours. From giving to community-based organizations through match giving and Dollars for Doers programs, to packing food and hygiene kits for underprivileged families and unhoused individuals, to mentoring school children and young people, Principal employees provided their time, expertise, and resources to better their communities near and far.

World Central Kitchen

In 2023, for the first time in our history, Principal Foundation created a global series of employee engagement events that connected a Principal Foundation grantee and employees of Principal. In collaboration with World Central Kitchen (WCK), Principal Foundation created a series of activations that allowed Principal employees to learn about the organization, the crises WCK responds to, and understand why Principal Foundation supports them. The events also provided hands-on assistance by packing meals that were donated to local organizations. In 2023, Principal, together with Principal Foundation, activated in Manila, Philippines and Charlotte, North Carolina. In Manila, Principal employees packaged 2,000 meal kits that can each feed a family of four for two weeks. In Charlotte, Principal employees packaged 1,300 sandwich meals for local after school programs.

In Manila, Philippines, Principal employees put the finishing touches on packaged meals to be donated locally.

Pedal to Paris

Over 30 Principal employees from six offices came together to cycle more than 180 miles from London to Paris and Frankfurt to Paris as a fundraiser. Together they raised over $64,000 for two charities: We are Beam, which provides comprehensive support services to children and young people with any form of physical, learning, or sensory impairment; and Kleine Helden Little Heroes, which provides home quality of life care for seriously ill or terminally ill children. The enthusiasm for this event garnered support and donations from employees around the world.

After biking 180 miles to raise funds for charity, Principal volunteers take a well-deserved break in Paris near the Arc de Triomphe.

Materiality methodology

In 2020, we went through a stringent evaluation process of our reporting landscape to review material sustainability factors alongside developments in industry regulations, trending and emerging industry research, and shareholder resolutions on ESG topics.

We checked these against industry peers, consulted area experts, conducted internal stakeholder surveys, and cross-referenced our reporting frameworks, which include the Global Reporting Initiative (GRI), Sustainable Accounting Standards Board (SASB), and Task Force on Climate-related Financial Disclosures (TCFD).

The results of this process informed our current materiality matrix and guided our sustainability strategy and annual ESG disclosure process.

Completing a materiality assessment process on a recurring basis is important to us—especially as industry regulations and sustainability trends continue to evolve and present new salient impacts on our business, and the stakeholders most affected by it.

At the end of 2023, we began our next materiality review, which is set to be completed in 2024. We expect this process will reinforce or illuminate the sustainability factors that are most material to our business and important to our stakeholders—and continue to guide our strategy into the future.

Given our industry and areas of expertise, the following topics are material to us:

- Sustainable investing
- Consumer and product impact
- Financial inclusion
- Environmental impact
- Sustainable sourcing
- Governance, ethics, and risk
- Global inclusion
- Employee engagement

Materiality matrix and topics

Within the eight focus areas are 21 specific sustainability topics that drive the goals, targets, and initiatives described throughout this report.

- A Financial inclusion
- B Environmental impact
- C Sustainable investing
- D Global inclusion
- E Employee engagement
- F Consumer and product impact
- G Sustainable sourcing
- H Governance, ethics, and risk

About our 2023 Sustainability Report

We began publishing a Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) Report more than 20 years ago. For the past decade, we've produced our CSR Report annually for release on our website, and in 2021 we released our inaugural Sustainability Report. The evolution of these annual reports demonstrates the maturing of our sustainability journey—one that reflects both our dedication to continuous progress and the realities of the changing world.

The purpose of the annual Sustainability Report is to disclose our performance for the past year, share meaningful activations that help us achieve our long-term sustainability commitments, and inform our stakeholders of our plans for the following year. This report not only reviews what we accomplished and learned in 2023, it also allows us to communicate how our 2023 performance informs our planning, goals, and future initiatives.

This 2023 Sustainability Report primarily focuses on the sustainability issues that are considered to be most material to our sustainability goals and commitments and have the potential to significantly impact our stakeholders. We conducted a materiality assessment in 2020 and reevaluate our material topics each year, through which we determine specific measures that may influence the potential effectiveness and financial significance of addressing identified environmental, social, and corporate governance (ESG) issues as part of our company's overall sustainability analysis.

This report does not cover all information about our business. The term "materiality" in the context of this report refers to the ESG elements deemed fundamental to the long-term success of our company's sustainability strategy. While our approach to considering materiality in the context of this report includes the consideration of events, including potential future events, that may be significant, any such significance should not be read as necessarily rising to the level of materiality used for purposes of complying with U.S. federal securities laws and regulations. Further, we are not using the term "materiality" in this report as it is used in the context of financial statements or financial reporting.

Please note this report includes data and activities from our global operations for calendar year 2023. Unless otherwise noted with respect to references to specific dates, all data is accurate as of December 31, 2023.

This report has been prepared in accordance with GRI and SASB standards and in alignment with TCFD and the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals.

Forward-looking statements

This report contains statements that constitute forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, including statements related to our sustainability vision, commitments, strategy, work, beliefs, expectations, goals, and opinions.

Forward-looking statements can also be identified by words such as "anticipate," "believe," "plan," "estimate," "expect," "intend," "future," "may," and other similar expressions. Forward-looking statements are made based upon our current expectations and beliefs concerning future developments and their potential effects on us. Such forward-looking statements are not guarantees of future performance and actual results may differ materially from the results anticipated in the forward-looking statements.

We describe risks, uncertainties, and factors that could cause or contribute to such material differences in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, including our annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended Dec. 31, 2023, as updated or supplemented from time to time in subsequent filings. We assume no obligation to update any forward-looking statement for any reason, which speaks as of its date.

Important information

Integration of environmental, social, and governance (ESG) factors is qualitative and subjective by nature. There is no guarantee that the criteria used or judgment exercised will reflect the beliefs or values of any particular investor. Investment teams have a high degree of investment process autonomy and may consider or weight ESG criteria or factors differently (or not at all). For those teams that consider ESG factors as part of the investment process in strategies that are not explicitly ESG-oriented, those ESG factors are generally no more significant than other factors in the investment selection process, such that ESG factors may not be determinative in deciding to include or exclude any particular investment in the portfolio. Information regarding responsible practices or other ESG data differs by source and may not be accurate or complete. Integration of ESG factors may present additional advantages or risks, may not protect against market risk or volatility, and under certain circumstances may detract from investment performance.

You should not make any investment assumptions based solely on the information contained herein. Information is provided as additional insight into the relevant investment processes and should not be viewed as a change in an investment team's underlying investment objectives, strategies, risk parameters, or portfolio construction guidelines. There is no assurance that any strategy or integration of ESG factors will be successful or profitable.
