DTS® Partners With LG Electronics On New LG TONE Studio Wearable Personal Speaker

Partnership to Deliver Premium Sound to Listeners Worldwide

CALABASAS, Calif., Jan. 4, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- DTS Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Tessera Holding Corporation (NASDAQ: TSRA), and global leader in high-definition audio solutions, is pleased to announce its collaboration with LG on its new wearable personal speaker, the LG TONE Studio (model HBS-W120).

The LG TONE Studio is a neckband-type wearable personal speaker supporting Bluetooth connectivity to TVs and mobile devices. With DTS audio consultation and support, the LG TONE Studio delivers optimal sound balance and details. It creates a personal surround sound experience with four external speakers based on DTS Sound tuning technology. It also features hidden earbuds to provide consumers with an option for a more personal listening experience. The product is scheduled for launch in North America and Korea in the first quarter of 2017.

"This partnership is to be a very exciting and significant collaboration that consumer will experience audio and video content to the next level," said Michael Park, vice president, IPD BD, LG Electronics.

"We're excited to be expanding our collaboration with LG on a broader range of products," said Jea Yoo, president, DTS Korea. "Our goal is to allow more consumers to experience DTS premium sound in various platforms through partnership with CE manufacturers."
