Company Release - 5/16/2016 7:57 AM ET

SAN JOSE, CA -- (Marketwired) -- 05/16/16 -- TiVo Inc. (NASDAQ: TIVO), a leader in next-generation technology connecting consumers to their content, announced today that it will be showcasing its latest innovative and industry-leading solutions for cable operators at the INTX 2016 Conference in Boston, MA, May 16 to 18, 2016.

"TiVo's suite of innovative solutions for the industry continue to help our operator-partners fuel subscription growth and enhance their profitability," said Tom Elam, TiVo Vice President and General Manager, North American Service Provider Business. "Our diverse array of software offerings is driving the growth of our global footprint. With more than seven million TiVo service subscriptions across North America and Europe, our partnerships are providing viewers with an elegant, easy-to-use solution for accessing and viewing all of their content. We're excited about the future of our industry and continuing this growth with our valued partners."

TiVo will be showcasing the following technologies in booth ES14:

- TiVo® multi-room DVR software, which features the award-winning TiVo experience and powerful cloud-driven features such as personalized recommendations and unified search. TiVo software will be showcased on both Arris and TiVo hardware

- Mobile platforms for iOS and Android™ devices
- TiVo set-top box (STB) software running on the Evolution Digital eBox™; our unique software approach allows this STB to operate as a standalone QAM zapper, as a multi-room DVR client, or as a client to our upcoming network DVR service

For select partners, TiVo will also be showcasing the following:

- Advanced solutions from Cubiware, including TiVo Lite, CubiTV and Cubiware CubiConnect; these flexible middleware solutions enable cable, satellite and terrestrial TV operators, and telcos to introduce advanced TV services like Digitalsmiths' Seamless Discovery®, which blends multiple video sources, including Linear TV, Premium Channels, Video-On-Demand and Over-The-Top offerings, with other data sources to deliver multiple types of personalized recommendations
- TiVo Network DVR solutions, including the TiVo Service Console and APIs -- enabling operators to easily manage their Network DVR deployment from service provisioning to programming rights enforcement and User Interface management
- TiVo Web Portal
