

State-Specific HealthEdSolutions.com Resource Section Features ACLS Certification, Florida and Arizona Health Trends

Lincoln, NE (PRWEB) November 01, 2011

Health Education Solutions, a leading provider of advanced cardiac life support (ACLS) certification and pediatric advanced life support (PALS) certification, today released a new Florida and Arizona Health Trends Special Section to help medical professionals, nurses, first responders and other healthcare workers in these two states learn more about industry data, health trends and training options. This series of articles is available in Health Education Solutions' online research library.

"Recent health trends have led to an increased demand for healthcare professionals certified in resuscitation techniques," said Melissa Marks, president of Health Education Solutions. "In Health Education Solutions' online courses for PALS and ACLS certification, Florida and Arizona healthcare professionals — as well as those from across the nation — can learn valuable skills and advance their careers with industry-focused resources and convenient online certification courses."

Florida (FL) loses more children under age 5 to drowning than any other state, according to the Florida Department of Public Health. In Arizona (AZ), more than 65 percent of adults are overweight or obese, putting the population at a higher risk for cardiovascular disease. These health trends underscore the need for healthcare professionals in these states to be skilled in lifesaving care.

The resource section is free and available for individuals seeking information about ACLS and PALS certification, Arizona and Florida healthcare professionals and anyone who simply wants to be prepared to provide care in an emergency situation. Highlights include:

- PALS Certification: AZ Pediatric Health Trends Every Nurse Should Know About
- Recent Health Trends and ACLS Certification: FL

Health Education Solutions offers ACLS, PALS and basic life support (BLS) certification and recertification courses for first responders and healthcare professionals, as well as first aid courses, CPR certification and automated external defibrillator (AED) training for individuals seeking lifesaving skills.

Health Education Solutions' ACLS, PALS and BLS courses incorporate the most up-to-date first aid and life support guidelines and are available in convenient online formats. The ACLS certification and PALS certification courses were developed in partnership with Union College.
