

McEWEN MINING PROVIDES UPDATE ON NYSE LISTING

TORONTO, Nov. 25, 2015 -- McEwen Mining Inc. (NYSE: MUX) (TSX: MUX) would like to update investors on our plans to regain compliance with the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) minimum share price requirement. The NYSE stipulates that the average closing price of a listed company's stock be above US$1.00 per share, calculated over a period of 30 consecutive trading days. The Company was advised on July 1, 2015 that it no longer met this requirement.

"We've made good progress in a difficult market. This year we strengthened our balance sheet, increased production, and decreased our costs," said Rob McEwen, Chief Owner. "I'm not going to take this lying down, I have no intention of being delisted from the world's premier stock exchange".

As part of our continuing effort to create shareholder value, we have been working diligently on measures to help support the share price including:

- 1. Delivering four consecutive quarters of record production and three of positive cash flow.
- 2. Implementing an annual return of capital distribution of 1¢ per share paid semi-annually, with the second payment expected in February 2016.
- 3. Marketing the company to raise awareness of our asset base, growing profitable production, expanding treasury, and optionality to gold, silver, and copper.
- 4. Evaluating potential M&A transactions that would add share value.
- 5. Initiating a share buy back program whereby we can repurchase up to 5% of common stock over the next twelve months.

In the event that these initiatives do not result in achieving compliance with the minimum price requirement by the new year, we have determined that a reverse split (share consolidation) of our stock may be necessary. Such a consolidation would require shareholder approval at the next annual general meeting (AGM), which we expect will be held in late June 2016.

The NYSE rules provide that since the resolution to implement a reverse split requires the approval of the Company's shareholders, its stock will continue to trade on the NYSE, subject to compliance with all other NYSE requirements, provided that the Company must obtain the shareholder approval by no later than its next AGM, and must implement the action promptly thereafter. The price condition will be deemed cured if the price promptly exceeds $1.00 per share, and the price remains above the level for at least the following 30 trading days, otherwise the Company's stock will be delisted from the NYSE. If the Company regains compliance with the pricing requirement prior to implementing the reverse split, the Company can elect not to implement the reverse split.
