NEWS RELEASE

Dr. Pedro Delgado Joins American University of the Caribbean School of Medicine Leadership Team

2019-04-24

Nationally recognized medical expert to join Sint Maarten community and lead medical sciences faculty

CUPECOY, Sint Maarten--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- American University of the Caribbean School of Medicine (AUC) is pleased to announce the addition of Pedro L. Delgado, M.D. to the school's leadership team. Dr. Delgado will serve as AUC's Senior Associate Dean on the Sint Maarten medical sciences campus, responsible for Sint Maarten-based faculty and serving as the senior local leader from AUC to the broader Sint Maarten community.

This press release features multimedia. View the full release here: https://www.businesswire.com/news/home/20190424005294/en/

In his new role, Dr. Delgado will direct AUC's medical science faculty, supporting the ongoing development and delivery of AUC's quality medical education curriculum and furthering AUC's focus on social accountability and community engagement. Dr. Delgado will support AUC's engagement efforts on Sint Maarten as well as develop new collaborations on Sint Maarten and in the region.

Prior to joining AUC, Dr. Delgado was the Chair of the Department of Psychiatry at the College of Medicine at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS), where he was also a Marie Wilson Howells Professor and Director of the UAMS Psychiatric Research Institute (PRI).

"Dr. Delgado's expertise in research and education will be invaluable to AUC's faculty and the students we serve," said AUC Executive Dean Heidi Chumley, M.D. "He will play a crucial role on AUC's leadership team, helping to deliver the highest quality medical education to our students, while maximizing our impact in the Sint Maarten community."

"I am honored to have been chosen to join the outstanding leadership team and world-class medical school training program at AUC," said Dr. Delgado. "I was drawn to AUC's strong commitment to empowering students that I encountered in all the faculty and staff."

Delgado earned a BS in biology from the University of Houston in 1979 and an M.D. (AOA) and MA (Pharmacology from the University of Texas (UT) Medical Branch in Galveston, Texas in 1983 and 1984, respectively. He completed his internship and residency training in psychiatry at Yale University School of Medicine in New Haven, Conn. in 1987 and was on the Yale faculty, leading research programs investigating the neurobiological basis of depression and the mechanisms of antidepressant drug action, until 1992. He subsequently served on the faculty of the University of Arizona College of Medicine, Case Western Reserve School of Medicine and the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio. Over the past 20 years, Dr. Delgado has served in a variety of leadership positions, including Vice Chair for Research in Arizona, Douglas Danford Bond Professor and Chairman of Psychiatry at Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine (2000-2005) and Dielmann Distinguished Chair and Chairman of Psychiatry at the UT Health Science Center in San Antonio (2005-2014).

For his work investigating the biology of depression, he shared the international Anna Monika Prize in 1995.

Dr. Delgado has published over 100 scientific articles and book chapters, serves on the editorial boards of many prominent psychiatric journals, is a grant reviewer for the National Institutes of Health and is a frequent lecturer on biological aspects of depression and clinical use of antidepressant drugs.

About American University of the Caribbean School of Medicine

American University of the Caribbean School of Medicine (AUC) is an institution of Adtalem Global Education (NYSE: ATGE), a global education provider headquartered in the United States. AUC's mission is to train tomorrow's physicians, whose service to their communities and their patients is enhanced by international learning experiences, a diverse learning community, and an emphasis on social accountability and engagement. Founded in 1978, AUC has more than 6,500 graduates, many of whom work in primary care or underserved areas. Dedicated to developing physicians with a lifelong commitment to patient-centered care, AUC embraces collaboration, inclusion and community service. With a campus in Sint Maarten, affiliated teaching hospitals in the United States and the United Kingdom, and internationally recognized faculty, AUC has a diverse medical education program for today's globally minded physician. For more information visit aucmed.edu, follow AUC on Twitter (@aucmed), Instagram (@aucmed_edu) and Facebook (@aucmed).

About Adtalem Global Education

The purpose of Adtalem Global Education is to empower students to achieve their goals, find success, and make inspiring contributions to our global community. Adtalem Global Education Inc. (NYSE: ATGE; member S&P MidCap 400 Index) is a leading global education provider and the parent organization of Adtalem Educacional do Brasil (IBMEC, Damásio and Wyden institutions), American University of the Caribbean School of Medicine, Association of Certified Anti-Money Laundering Specialists, Becker Professional Education, Chamberlain University, EduPristine, Ross University School of Medicine and Ross University School of Veterinary Medicine. For more information, please visit adtalem.com and follow us on Twitter (@adtalemglobal) and LinkedIn.

View source version on businesswire.com:
https://www.businesswire.com/news/home/20190424005294/en/

David Irwin, Adtalem Global Education
david.irwin@adtalem.com
+1.630.453.1120

Source: American University of the Caribbean School of Medicine