Reverse Yankee Issuance has Also Increased

Tailwinds
- The differential in absolute rates favors euro debt
- Issuers have the opportunity to diversify their investor bases and/or maturity profiles

Headwinds
- More recently, the wider cross-currency basis deterioration has reduced the relative attractiveness of euro funding
- Bankers are focused on potential issuance oversupply

* Reverse Yankee Issuance refers to euro debt issuance by US companies.
Note: Revenue is recognized on the basis of the domicile of the issuer.
European companies have historically relied more on banks than their American counterparts, but are increasingly turning to the bond market.

1H15 Moody’s rated European high yield bond and bank loan issuance was split approximately 60% / 40%, respectively.

*Rated by Moody’s Investors Service.

» Global 2Q15 new mandates were down year-over-year vs. 2Q14, but up sequentially from 1Q15

» In the US, there has been less leveraged loan activity this year vs. last year, especially non-refinancing driven activity, which previously accounted for a significant percentage of new mandates

» In EMEA, QE is mainly helping established issuers tap the market, crowding out new issuers. Additionally, there has been increased volatility and macro risk in Europe

» Asia, Latin America, and Canada have fared well in terms of new mandates as each region has shown growth over the prior-year period
Bank Loan Issuance has Decelerated

US Non-Financial Corporate Speculative-Grade Bank Loans

- 2Q15 US bank loan issuance declined year-over-year, but increased sharply from 1Q15 (driven by refinancing activity)
- Robust CLO formation has led to more favorable market conditions for bank loan origination, counterbalancing the impact of the SNC leverage lending guidelines

Europe Bank Loan Market:
- The rated bank loan market in Europe is approximately one-fifth the size of the rated bank loan market in the US
- 2014 European rated bank loan issuance totaled $119 billion, a 47% increase over $81 billion in 2013
- 1H15 rated issuance totaled $40 billion, a 41% decline from $68 billion in 1H14

*Rated bank loan issuance represents Moody’s rated non-financial corporate speculative-grade bank loans. It includes term loan B syndicated loans sold to investors.
Unrated bank loan issuance includes term loan A (retained by the lender) and revolvers.
