Attachment to Form 9937

Report of Certain Organizational Actions Affecting Basis of Securities

The information contained on Form 9937 and within this attachment does not constitute tax advice and is not intended or written to be used, and cannot be used, for the purpose of avoiding penalties under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"). Moreover, each shareholder is urged to consult its own tax advisor regarding the particular tax consequences of the transaction to them, including the applicability and effect of all U.S. federal, state, local, and foreign tax laws.

Form 9937, Part I, Line 8 and Part II, Line 14

On August 13, 2026, Strive, Inc. ("Strive" or the "Company") announced that its board of directors declared daily cash distributions for each business day for the period from September 1, 2026 through September 30, 2026. For the period, the Company paid daily cash dividends aggregating to $1.0836 per share on the Variable Rate Series A Perpetual Preferred Stock ("SATA") to shareholders of record as of the close of business on each respective dividend record date during such period (the "September 2026 Daily Distributions"). The Company expects that the September 2026 Daily Distributions will be nontaxable returns of capital to the extent of a preferred shareholder's tax basis in each share of SATA stock. A detailed schedule of daily dividend record dates, payment dates, and associated per-share dividend amounts is set forth below:

Payment Date	Record Date	Dividend
September 1, 2026	August 31, 2026	$0.0516
September 2, 2026	September 1, 2026	$0.0516

Form 9937, Part II, Line 15

The character of a distribution as either a dividend or return of capital for federal income tax purposes depends on the Company's estimate of current and accumulated earnings and profits ("E&P") for its full tax year in the year of the distributions. The information set forth in this Form 9937 is based on estimates as of the time this Form is filed with the Internal Revenue Service ("IRS") or made publicly available in lieu of filing with the IRS. Estimates can change throughout the year and, to the extent the Company's estimates change, the Company will file a corrected Form 8937 for impacted distributions pursuant to applicable Treasury Regulations.

Based on current estimates, the Company will have zero current and accumulated E&P in its taxable year ending December 31, 2026 and, accordingly, it is expected that 100% of the September 2026 Daily Distributions on the SATA stock will be characterized as returns of capital for federal income tax purposes, to the extent of a recipient shareholder's tax basis in their shares of SATA stock. A shareholder's tax basis in the SATA stock will be reduced by the amount of the distributions made under section 301(c)(2) of the Code. Any amount of the September 2026 Daily Distributions paid in excess of a shareholder's tax basis in its shares of SATA stock will be treated as capital gains for U.S. federal income tax purposes under section 301(c)(3) of the Code.

Shareholders should consult their own tax advisors to determine the income tax consequences for their specific situation. The Company is providing this Form for informational purposes only and not as legal or tax advice.

Form 8937, Part II, Line 16

Pursuant to sections 301(c) and 316(a) of the Code, the taxability of the September 2026 Daily Distributions to each recipient shareholder is based on estimates of the Company's current and accumulated E&P for its 2026 taxable year, as computed for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The Company's estimated current and accumulated E&P for its 2026 taxable year supports the expectation that the entire amount of the September 2026 Daily Distributions on the SATA stock should be characterized as non-taxable returns of capital to the extent of each shareholder's tax basis in its SATA stock under section 301(c)(2) of the Code, followed by treatment as capital gains to the recipient shareholder under section 301(c)(3) of the Code to the extent the amount of the distributions on the SATA stock exceeds such shareholder's tax basis in SATA stock.

The information on lines 14, 15, 16, and 17 will be reflected at the individual shareholder level on the shareholder's 2026 Form 1099-DIV. Additionally, copies of Form 1042-S, as required, will be furnished to certain non-U.S. holders of the Company's SATA stock who received the September 2026 Daily Distributions.

Shareholders should consult their own tax advisors to determine the income tax consequences of their specific situation. The information contained in this document does not constitute tax advice and is not intended or written to be used, and cannot be used, for purposes of avoiding penalties under the Code.
