Delphi Named One of the World's Most Ethical Companies Four Years in a Row

2016-03-07

GILLINGHAM, England, March 7, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- Delphi Automotive PLC (NYSE: DLPH) has been named one of the "World's Most Ethical Companies" by the Ethisphere Institute, a global leader in defining and advancing the standards of ethical business practices.

Delphi was recognized for its commitment to leading ethical business standards and practices and has been named to the list the last four years. The company is one of only three automotive companies to be included on the annual list.

"At Delphi, we foster a culture of responsibility and ethics throughout our organization. These are values that are integral to how we do business each day and we are proud to be recognized for this work," said David M. Sherbin, senior vice president, general counsel, secretary and chief compliance officer, Delphi Automotive.

Ethisphere's World's Most Ethical Companies are selected using scores generated in five key categories: ethics and compliance program, corporate citizenship and responsibility, culture of ethics, governance and leadership, innovation and reputation.
