Teladoc Health Providing Free Health Visits to Those Impacted by California Wildfires

11/5/2019

Residents and Those Displaced Can Call 855-225-5032 to Access Treatment for Non-Emergency Illnesses
PURCHASE, NY, Nov. 05, 2019 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Teladoc Health, the global leader in virtual care, announces that the company is providing free, 24/7 telehealth visits to those displaced by the California fires currently devastating many parts of the state. Access to care by the Teladoc network of board-certified, state licensed physicians for many non-emergency illnesses is available by calling 855-225-5032.

What service is being offered?: Free general medical care visits. Among those adult and pediatric conditions that can be effectively diagnosed and treated are respiratory infections, sinus conditions, fevers, allergies, cold and flu symptoms, UTIs, minor cuts and scrapes, and many other non-emergency illnesses.

Who is qualified to receive care: Anyone who has been displaced by the fires, both Teladoc members and non-members alike. For emergencies, always call 911.

When: Effective immediately.

"We encourage those impacted by these tragic events to continue to prioritize their health and safety," advised Lewis Levy, MD, chief medical officer, Teladoc Health. "We're grateful to be able to provide access to care and to be a reliable source for those in California whose lives are otherwise upended and uncertain, just as we have for individuals across the country during other natural disasters over the years."
