

CACI to Demonstrate Solutions for a Decisive Mission Advantage at 2018 Special Operations Forces Industry Conference

Arlington, Va., May 16, 2018 - CACI International Inc (NYSE: CACI) will showcase cutting-edge solutions that enable special operations forces to win the current fight and to transform existing capabilities to answer future threats at the 2018 Special Operations Forces Industry Conference (SOFIC), hosted by the National Defense Industrial Association at the Tampa Convention Center in Tampa, FL, from May 21-24. The company will demonstrate how its industry-leading cyber, electronic warfare, and signals intelligence experience and expertise can be used to equip data-enabled operators to address the challenge of today's modern battlespace.

CACI will also demonstrate Mobile Awareness GEOINT Environment (MAGE), a proven mobile solution that provides situational awareness and supports team-sourced data collection in the field, even in low-bandwidth or disconnected environments. Other demonstrations include solutions the company has delivered in the field of deep learning – a subset of artificial intelligence. Secure, seamless wireless communications tools used to help speed informed mission execution will also be showcased.

Visit CACI at booth 1911 to meet our subject matter experts and view these demonstrations.
