Voya once again ranks as one of the most admired companies in securities and asset management

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Voya Financial, Inc. (NYSE:VOYA), announced today that it has been named to Fortune's 2020 list of the World's Most Admired Companies. Voya was ranked as one of the most admired companies on the magazine's list of securities and asset management companies.

"We are extremely honored to have once again been named a World's Most Admired Company by Fortune," said Rodney O. Martin, Jr., chairman and CEO, Voya Financial, Inc. "In addition to our strong financial performance over the past several years, we have placed equal importance on advancing the character of our brand, including a number of the reputational attributes that are considered in earning the World's Most Admired Companies designation. For example, at Voya, we have placed a high importance on building a strong culture, meeting the needs of our customers, advocating for people with special needs and disabilities, and advancing diversity, inclusion and equality – both within and outside of our organization. This recognition from our peers and others in our industry is something that all of us at Voya are extremely proud of achieving."

Fortune's "World's Most Admired Companies" list is the definitive report card on corporate reputation, and is developed by Fortune and Korn Ferry. The study surveys top executives and directors from eligible companies, along with financial analysts, to rate enterprises in their own industry on nine criteria, from investment value and quality of management and products to social responsibility and ability to attract talent. A company's score must rank in the top half of its industry survey to be listed.

The complete list appears in the February issue of the magazine. To learn more about Fortune's "World's Most Admired Companies" list, please visit <http://fortune.com/worlds-most-admired-companies>.
