The transaction is subject to customary closing conditions and regulatory approval and is expected to close within 30 days.

The Benioffs are purchasing TIME personally and the transaction is unrelated to Salesforce.com, where Mr. Benioff is Chairman, co-CEO and founder. Mr. and Mrs. Benioff will not be involved in the day-to-day operations or journalistic decisions, which will continue to be led by TIME's current executive leadership team.

Meredith announced it was selling Time Inc.'s news and sports brands – TIME, Sports Illustrated, Fortune and MONEY – to focus on brands serving its core audience of American women. Meredith expects to announce agreements for the remaining asset sales in the near future.

"We are honored to be the caretakers of one of the world's most important media companies and iconic brands," said the Benioffs. "TIME has always been a trusted reflection of the state of the world, and reminds us that business is one of the greatest platforms for change."

"On behalf of the entire TIME team, we are very excited to begin this next chapter in our history," said TIME Editor-in-Chief Edward Felsenthal. "We can't imagine better stewards for TIME than Marc and Lynne Benioff. The team is inspired by their commitment to high-quality journalism and by their confidence in the work we have done to transform and expand the brand in new directions."
